UN Plan Follows India's

U.S. May Suggest Neutrality for PWs

TOKYO (UP) — The United Nations in a "final" truce offer to the Communists will agree that anti-Red Chinese prisoners of the UN be sent to a neutral country until their future is decided, a reliable source said today.

But the UN will stand pat on its insistence that the anti-Communist Korean prisoners it holds be kept in Korea, the informant said.

The UN offer will be made when the truce negotiations are resumed at Panmunjom at 11 a.m. Monday (7 p.m. Sunday PDT).

In general, the Allied plan is expected to go along with the Indian plan which the UN assembly approved last December.

But it is understood that the threat of releasing all anti-Red Korean prisoners outright in South Korea may be held over the heads of the Communist negotiators.

GUARANTEES

The UN also will insist on the firmest guarantees against the forcible repatriation of any prisoners, it is understood. In addition, informants said the UN will refuse to let any Soviet satellite troops go to Korea as "neutral" guards of anti-Red prisoners.

Island Prepares For Shipping Strike

Final Sailings Set For Ships Saturday

VANCOUVER (CP)—The midnight sailings of CPR ships out of Vancouver and Victoria will not operate Saturday, May 23, deadline time for SIU workers to go on strike, it was announced today.

The last ship from Vancouver for Victoria will be 11.30 a.m. PDT Saturday, and out of Victoria for Vancouver at 2.10 p.m. Saturday. The Saturday morning ship will continue to Seattle but will not carry any cargo or passengers on its immediate return trip to Victoria.

The last sailing from Vancouver for Nanaimo will leave at 6 p.m. Saturday. The last departure from Nanaimo for Vancouver will be 7.30 p.m. Saturday.

The last service out of Westview and Blubber Bay for Vancouver will be Friday, but there will be a Saturday service from Vancouver to the Gulf Islands and return.

Service from Vancouver to Ocean Falls, Kitimat and Prince Rupert will terminate after Thursday's departure and the last sailing from Prince Rupert on Sunday, from Kitimat and Wemano on Monday, and Ocean Falls on Tuesday, May 26.

Victoria, with the rest of Vancouver Island, prepared today for a strike of coastwise seamen which seemed a certainty for 12 midnight Saturday.

In Vancouver, negotiations between operators of three steamship companies and representatives of the Seafarers' International Union (AFL) ground to a standstill.

Little hope was held for settlement before the Saturday deadline, set by the union at a meeting in Vancouver Monday.

The strike would cut off direct sea connection for passengers between Vancouver Island and the B.C. mainland, but would not isolate the island with two other ferry services maintaining their regular runs between Sidney-Anacortes and Victoria-Port Angeles.

Strike developments today were:

1. Canadian Pacific Steamships, Canadian National Steamships and Union Steamships adjusted schedules to bring all ships into port before the deadline.

2. CPR ordered immediate embargo of livestock and perishable goods if the shipments are destined for points served by coastal steamships. CNS is expected to follow suit.

3. No further meeting between operators and union was expected.

4. Transportation operators not involved in the strike planned stepped-up schedules to provide a service to the mainland by air, and by sea via U.S. ports.

5. Preparations were made to anchor strike-bound ships in Royal Roads and in English Bay.

6. Victoria wholesale meat houses expressed confidence "the city won't go hungry."

Company-union talks Tuesday, which started after Federal Labor Minister Milton Gregg telegraphed both sides asking them to "get together" were apparently futile. No progress has been made toward agreement in the past 24 hours.

OTHER SCHEDULES

Washington State ferries have announced a stepped-up schedule on the Sidney-Anacortes run if there is a strike. Re-fit work on the ferry Chippewa is being hurried to get it into service earlier than planned. The present ferry, Klickitat, will make two round trips daily, and Chippewa's schedule, to be announced later, will add to this service.

Perishables and emergencies will be given priority on the ferries, according to Capitol Travel Service, city agents.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines officials were drafting increased services, to connect with the ferries at Sidney, and to serve Up-Island points. Greyhound Bus Lines planned connections between Washington State Ferries at Anacortes and transcontinental trains at Seattle, New Westminster and Coquitlam.

Trans-Canada Air Lines traffic officials conferred in Vancouver, sketching possible "emergency airlift" service if needed.

A spokesman for TCA, which operates 14 round trips daily between Victoria and Vancouver (passenger capacity, 392 each way), said it was likely the company's regular services could deal with requirements, but emergency flights would be operated if necessary, within the limits of available aircraft and crew-time.

FOUR TRIPS DAILY

Black Ball Ferry Lines provides connection with the mainland via Port Angeles, operating four round trips daily. The new Black Ball service, Vancouver-Nanaimo, cannot be operated before June 15, as the new ferry for the service is not ready.

Unless the strike spreads to barge operators, wholesalers here do not anticipate a food shortage. Major meat packers import in carload lots via car barge. In 1950, when the seamen were on strike, a considerable amount of food was imported in bond via Port Townsend and Anacortes-Sidney.

SIU members voted for strike action after the companies rejected their demands for a wage increase of $50 a month on a basic rate of about $180. The union rejected a majority report of a conciliation board which called for a $30 a month increase.

CHURCHILL INVITES IKE TO BRITAIN

Would Welcome Immediate Visit

LONDON (UP) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill invited President Eisenhower today to visit Britain during his White House term and said a visit right now would be welcome if the President could get away from Washington.

But Churchill said he does not feel that any present differences between the United States and Britain would justify a procedure "of such magnitude" as a formal invitation.

Such an invitation, he said, would necessarily be made by Queen Elizabeth to the President as a fellow head of state.

Speaking in the House of Commons, Churchill said there were only "reasonable differences of opinion" between the United States and Britain.

If the President does come, he said, he hopes it will be to talk about "the vast vital body of agreement throughout the English-speaking world," and not about minor disagreements, between friends.

WORKING WELL

He said the machinery for consultation between the United States and other United Nations members is working "very well."

Churchill did not carry any further his statement last week urging an early meeting of a few world leaders in an attempt to reduce west-east tensions. But the foreign office denied emphatically a report that Churchill has made any approach to Soviet Russia on such a meeting.

George MacDonald, 49, well-known city businessman and active welfare worker, died today at St. Joseph's Hospital after having suffered indifferent health for several years. President and managing director of MacDonald's Ltd., he was also active in Chamber of Commerce and war service work. (See story page 15).

British Ready To Meet Any Egypt Trouble

CAIRO (CP) — A high-ranking British officer said today at an army base in the Suez Canal zone that "if trouble is forced upon us we are ready to counter it."

He spoke a few hours after Premier Mohammed Naguib urged Egyptians to prepare for a "life or death" fight to drive British troops from the canal zone.

"We are prepared to defend ourselves and are fully confident of our capacity to do so," Brig. Robin Goldsmith, chief of staff of British troops in Egypt, said at Fayid, in the canal zone.

Naguib's call for a continuing struggle to regain control of the zone for Egypt was made by radio Tuesday night. But he warned it would be a long, slow fight.

"We shall not rush, nor push the people toward mistakes in order to get hollow applause," he said.

He advised Egyptians they must be patient in matching themselves against "a cunning enemy fighting you with mischievous methods."

OTTAWA (CP)—The income tax appeal board in a judgment made public dismissed the appeal of a former lieutenant-governor of Saskatchewan and ruled the government was right in adding $62,047 to his taxable income for the year 1950. The appellant, now 91, was Henry W. Newlands, a former judge of the Saskatchewan Appeal Court and lieutenant-governor of that province from 1921 to 1931.

Nov. 9 Date Of Victoria By-Election

OTTAWA (CP)—A by-election has been called for Monday, Nov. 9 to fill the Commons vacancy of Victoria, B.C., but the action was regarded as doing no more than setting the latest possible date for the holding of a general election.

Lapse of a statutory time limit following the resignation of Fisheries Minister Mayhew to become ambassador to Japan resulted in the calling of the by-election. The deadline for setting a date was Monday, when cabinet passed an order-in-council for the by-election.

However, it was regarded as extremely unlikely that a by-election actually would be held before a general election, and the setting of the Victoria date was no more than a matter of form. The general election is expected in August.

Second Polish Pilot Lands Mig in Denmark

Russian-Built Jet Under Strict Police Guard at Roenne; Flier Asks Asylum

ROENNE, Denmark (AP) — Another Polish pilot crashed through the Iron Curtain today to land a Soviet MiG 15 jet fighter on this Danish island 100 miles west of Copenhagen.

Roenne police, who immediately took the young pilot into custody, said he had asked for political asylum. The plane was surrounded by military guards with orders to keep reporters and press photographers away.

An unconfirmed report said the plane was of a newer type than the one landed on this Baltic island March 25 by Lieut. Franciszek Jarecki, the first Polish Air Force escapee.

Jarecki's plane was later returned to Poland after a thorough examination by western air experts. Jarecki was granted asylum and since has gone to the United States.

Barnholm is only a few minutes flying time from Poland.

The speedy Russian-built fighter was first sighted by observers in the control tower of the airport at Roenne, the island's capital. The pilot apparently was unable to locate the field and headed for a training ground at nearby Almegaard military camp.

The MiG swayed violently after hitting the edges of several ditches and small bushes, then roared over the knotty ground before coming to an abrupt halt in the midst of a group of trees.

One of its wings was hit by a tree branch, but damage was reported only slight.

The young Polish pilot, unhurt, climbed out of the cockpit and greeted the camp commander with a smile.

Police said the pilot told them he broke away from a formation of MiG fighters flying over Polish territory.

Meanwhile, jet fighter experts from the Danish Air Force flew to Roenne to investigate the MiG-15, generally considered a prize catch by western military experts.

About three weeks ago the UN command in the Far East offered $100,000 to the first Communist pilot in Korea who brought his MiG-15 undamaged to the Allied side. No one there has reacted to the offer.

The first MiG-15 was thoroughly studied by Danish and other NATO experts before being handed back to Poland—and only after the Warsaw government had raised a diplomatic outcry against the delay in the delivery.

Allied Infantry Repels Red Attack

SEOUL (AP)—United Nations infantry today chopped down more than 200 of 300 Reds who battered their way into an Allied outpost in western Korea.

An 8th Army officer said 45 Chinese were killed, 33 probably were killed and about 130 were wounded in the bitter 25-minute battle for Outpost Yoke at the base of T-Bone Hill.

Allied Sabre jets scoured northwest Korea without finding a Communist MiG. It was the second straight day of aerial inactivity after six days of furious combat in which 36 MiGs were shot down and 18 damaged.

Bennett Centres Attack on Liberals

By GORDON FORBES
Times Political Reporter

NANAIMO — British Columbia's "collapsed" Liberal party still has its "boys in the back room hungry for patronage and wanting the old party machine running again," Premier W. A. C. Bennett charged here Tuesday night.

"Tax money is not to hand around to friends. It is trust money," the premier said as he lashed out viciously at the party which caused the defeat of his minority government.

He described new Liberal leader Arthur Laing as a "false stucco front sent out by Ottawa to hide the boys in the back room."

"Your Social Credit government has killed patronage in B.C. and it will stay dead," he shouted.

The premier was speaking in support of Nanaimo Social Credit candidate Earle Westwood, a former mayor of this hub city. More than 200 persons crowded into the Plaza auditorium to hear the Socred leader make his first Vancouver Island election speech.

Premier Bennett, concentrating on Mr. Laing, quoted the Liberal leader as saying some years ago the John Hart government was the "second worst" B.C. ever had. The worst was the Tolmie government, the premier recalled Mr. Laing as saying.

"The early Coalition government under John Hart was a great government," countered Premier Bennett. "Who was the greatest opponent of the Hart government? It was Arthur Laing."

He then asked:

"Is it any wonder John Hart isn't attending any Liberal banquets?"

He said the Liberal party has collapsed and "won't rise again for 50 years."

When Social Credit took over the reins of government, the premier said "we found patronage everywhere."

Contractors who wanted to get government business had to be on a "special list," he charged.

"We told the purchasing commission to end all that," he said.

Premier Bennett, wearing a "Social Credit for good government" button in his lapel and waving his index finger at the audience, next concentrated on retired CCF leader Harold Winch and former Liberal House leader E. T. Kenney.

"It's unparallelled in the history of British government that two opposition party leaders would resign after causing the defeat of a government," he said.

He termed Mr. Winch's resignation a "funny story, indeed."

Mr. Winch, he said, claimed he submitted his resignation to the CCF caucus two weeks before he made his retirement announcement "but only that day he had asked the lieutenant-governor for the premiership."

Premier Bennett claimed there is a "great division" in the CCF party, and Mr. Winch could only have hoped to keep control by getting the premiership. He didn't get it, so he resigned, he said.

"Mr. Winch went too far to the right, and parts of his party didn't like it," he added.

New CCF leader Arnold Webster has swung the party back to the far left, he contended, and is talking about taking over industries.

The "unholy alliance" between the Liberals, CCF and PC's, which defeated the Socred government, will be regretted by those parties, the premier continued.

"The night they defeated my government rang the death knell for all these parties," he said.

Opposition party actions during the session in criticizing the Socred policies, but voting for them, "showed clearly they wanted to use the Legislature as a political sounding board," Premier Bennett said. "They wanted to fill the press with their talk."

This, he contended, is an "abuse of the Legislature. The place for such talk is on the hustings," the premier contended.

There was a "great drama" played that night the government was defeated. It was obvious the Liberals and CCF had agreed ahead of time to defeat the Socreds, he said.

Premier Bennett brought the Victoria Times into his discussion of his government's achievements in its eight-month term of office.

He recalled a Times editorial said last August the real test of the Socreds will be if they can reduce the provincial debt and expenditures.

"They're afraid to say it now," he said, "because we've done that." The premier said his government reduced the net debt by $21,000,000 and reduced the expenditures.

By the end of March next the debt will be reduced another $12,000,000, the Premier predicted.

Premier Bennett was abrupt

BENNETT'S BOAST

Victory on First Count, Power for 50 Years

NANAIMO — Nothing is more certain than a Social Credit victory on June 9, according to Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

The premier Tuesday night in a two-hour speech, made the following predictions:

1. The people of B.C. will know within two hours of the time the polls close that Social Credit has been re-elected.

2. Social Credit will elect more candidates than all other parties put together.

3. Social Credit will stay in power in B.C. for 50 years.

4. Social Credit will get 60 per cent of the total vote.

5. Social Credit will not win all 48 seats, but will come close to that number.

Premier Bennett also said Social Credit has more members than all other parties combined—40,000 to 50,000.

A BLANKET FOR HARVEY

BOY SAYS MOTHER BEAT YOUNGSTER

Sad-Eyed Lad Testifies He Witnessed Woman Kicking Step-Grandson Until He Didn't Move

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask. (CP) — A sad-eyed boy, his shoulders barely reaching the top of the witness box, was one of eight persons called Tuesday to testify in the manslaughter trial of his mother.

Mrs. Ann Neitz, about 50 and the mother of four children, is charged with administering a beating to her two-and-a-half-year-old step-grandson which resulted in the child's death Feb. 13. An original charge of murder was reduced.

The woman wiped tears from her eyes as her 11-year-old son, Elmer, took the stand. Before swearing in the boy, Chief Justice J. T. Brown questioned him on his knowledge of the Bible, telling the truth and taking oaths.

The witness was sworn despite objections from defence counsel D. J. Murphy.

The boy testified he saw his mother hold her step-grandson, Harvey, with one hand while she beat him with another. Elmer said his mother also "licked" Harvey with a razor strap and kicked the child's body when he stopped crying and fell to the floor.

Elmer said his mother beat all the children, but Harvey got most. After Harvey fell to the floor, the woman laid him on the kitchen table and wrapped a blanket about him.

HURT HIMSELF

Mrs. Neitz and her husband then took Harvey to hospital at Maple Creek, near Swift Current, Elmer said. Before leaving, his mother had told him to tell anybody who asked that Harvey had fallen downstairs and hurt himself.

Chief Justice Brown ruled inadmissible a written statement by Neitz after hearing testimony of Sgt. J. W. Doyle and Cpl. T. Shillingford of the RCMP. One of the officers testified he might have said to Mrs. Neitz that "she was a young woman and should get it over with and get back to her family."

UNINVITED

Criminal Guest at Picnic

A score of children and three teachers from Resthaven Church had an uninvited and unexpected guest for their picnic on Piers Island Sunday . . . an escaped criminal from the Wilkinson Road hospital-prison.

He arrived at the island about 6 p.m., when the children were sitting down to their supper. He was unshaven and roughly dressed, but he explained he was a fisherman, had run out of gas and hadn't had anything to eat but peanuts for two days.

They believed him, at first, and teachers said afterwards he behaved quite rationally.

But when he had borrowed some gasoline and was about to leave, the children noticed a quantity of cigarettes and a box of cigars in his boat. Their suspicions were aroused.

They reported to the RCMP detachment at Sidney.

This final clue in a chain of reports led police to a pursuit which culminated in the fugitive's capture late Monday. He had escaped Friday.

Big U.S. Stratojet Sets Distance Mark On 24-Hour Non-Stop Endurance Test

WASHINGTON (UP). — A B-47 Stratojet bomber has made a 12,000-mile non-stop flight in 24 hours, to break "all distance and endurance records for jet aircraft," the air force announced today.

Details also were given on two other historic Stratojet missions—the first jet flight over the North Pole and a five-hour 38-minute west-to-east Atlantic crossing by two of the atom bombers.

On its 12,000-mile flight, the B-47 was refueled three times from tanker planes and dropped a five-ton dummy bomb at the half-way mark "to simulate a long-range strategic mission." The test hop, which averaged 500 miles an hour, was carried out over the southern and western United States "last year." It equaled half the distance around the world.

The air force described these other "firsts" for the six-jet medium bombers which are beginning to replace the slower piston-engine B-29 Superforts of the Strategic Air Command:

1. A B-47 made the first jet flight over the North Pole on a round trip from Eielson Air Force base, Alaska, more than a year ago. It was piloted by Col. Richard C. Neeley, Salt Lake City, Utah, accompanied by Col. J. G. Foster, New York, co-pilot, and Capt. D. J. Haney, Copperhill, Tenn., radar operator-navigator.

2. Two B-47's of the 306th Medium Bomber Wing, Macdill Air Force base, Tampa, Fla., spanned the ocean from Limestone, Me., to Fairford, England, last month in five hours 38 minutes. They averaged 555 m.p.h. on the 3,120-mile hop, and were not refueled in flight.

B.C. FIR POLE UP IN STRAND

LONDON (Reuters)—A 45-foot Douglas fir pole from New Westminster, B.C., was erected today in the centre of one of London's busiest thoroughfares, the Strand.

The pole, which arrived a month ago, is a gift to the city of Westminster from the city of New Westminster. It will be used as a Coronation decoration maypole.

The pole was erected on a traditional medieval maypole dancing site outside the 300-year-old bomb-scarred Church of St. Mary-le-Strand. But it will be used for decoration only. There will be no maypole dancing even on the Coronation night.

War of Sciences On Mississippi Roads

JACKSON, Miss. (UP)—Mississippi highway patrolmen feared today their up-to-date method of detecting speeders may run into trouble.

Patrol officials said they had been warned that some drivers were trying to use short-wave transmitters to "jam" the patrol's radar detection service.

THEY SMILED AT TREASURE HUNT BUT SMALL BOY GOT $1,500 LAUGH

MINERSVILLE, O. (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rouch smiled with understanding when their 23-year-old son, David, announced he was going to "hunt for buried treasure down in the basement."

They took more interest when he returned with a can full of old "greenbacks" and coins dated 1873, 1861 and 1878. A banker estimated the money was worth $1,500 at face value.

David said he found the "treasure" behind a foundation stone in the house, which was once a village saloon.

Casualty List Reveals Soldier Dead of Wounds

OTTAWA (BUP) — Army headquarters today reported one soldier dead of recent battle wounds and three men wounded in action—one of them for the third time—in its 185th official casualty list of the Korean War.

The list included among the wounded the name of Pte. Edward S. Ford, of Guelph, Ont., a member of the 3rd Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment. Ford was wounded August 29 last year and again on October 23, while serving with the 1st Battalion of the RCR. Both times his wounds were not serious.

Later Ford was transferred to the 3rd Battalion of the regiment to complete his 12-month tour of duty in the Far East. He became the first soldier of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade in Korea to be listed as wounded three times.

The list also included the name of Capt. Joseph M. Liston of Ottawa as a prisoner of war. Liston had been reported as missing since August 15, 1952. Army headquarters announced Sunday that he had been positively identified as a prisoner by L.-Cpl. Paul Dugal of Quebec City, the first Canadian soldier repatriated from the Communist prison camps.

The new list brought total casualties in Korea to 1,411, including 242 killed in action, 35 dead of wounds, 24 missing, 18 prisoners, 1,003 wounded in action and 89 injured in battle accidents.

The list:

DEAD OF WOUNDS

Pte. Henry Ard, 3rd Btn., RCR, Niagara Falls, Ont.

WOUNDED IN ACTION

Lieut. Jean Y. Gauthier, 3rd Btn., Royal 22nd Regiment, Ste. Foye, Quebec, Que.

Pte. Edward S. Ford, 3rd Btn., RCR, Guelph, Ont. (third wound).

Pte. Milton E. McIntyre, 3rd Btn., PPCLI, Windsor, Ont.

60% of Defense Dollar For Air Force, Says Ike

President Asks for Continued High Revenue to Keep Nation Safe

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Tuesday night his administration, far from skimping on the air force, plans to put 60 cents of every United States defense dollar into offensive and defensive air power for the navy and air force.

He set the stage for bitter legislative battles by asking Congress to retain the excess profits tax and to postpone cuts in other levies. He asked for continued high revenues to keep "our nation secure and our dollar sound . . . in an age of danger."

In a Congress anxious to trim tax burdens, this brought a mixed reaction. Some leaders said the outcome appears in doubt, but that Eisenhower might get what he asked for after a tough fight.

In his first direct report to the country since taking office January 20 Eisenhower described what he called a "middle way" military program. Evidently taking note of criticism in Congress and elsewhere of plans to cut the air force budget by $5,000,000,000, he said in his country-wide radio broadcast:

". . . investments in air power represent and will continue to represent the heaviest single outlay of our government . . ."

There is no sign that Russia has changed her plans for destruction of freedom around the world, the president said. Government revenues must be maintained at present high levels.

He spoke against a drive in the House of Representatives to cut personal income taxes 10 per cent starting July 1. Instead, the 10 per cent reduction should be allowed to take effect on schedule next January 1.

Promises Revised Tax Program

He called for a six-month extension of the excess profits tax on corporations, now scheduled to die in six weeks. He asked Congress to postpone indefinitely cuts scheduled next March 31 in regular corporation income taxes and excise sales taxes on scores of items.

He said he will submit a completely revised tax program next January.

The president offered to forego one small scheduled tax increase. That is the social security tax increase from 1½ to 2 per cent due to take effect January 1. It is paid by both employees and employers on the first $3,600 of a worker's annual wage or salary.

The program he outlined would provide $1,000,000,000 more, compared with present law, for the fiscal year starting July 1, but would still leave an estimated federal deficit of about $5,500,000,000.

Opposition centred in the powerful ways and means committee, the group that starts all tax bills through Congress. All 15 Republicans on the committee, in a private caucus, already have lined up against an extension of the excess profits tax.

Many Democrats remained critical of the decision to cut air force goals from the 143 wings—set for mid-1955 under the Democratic Truman administration—to 120.

Typical of Republican comment was the statement by chairman Leverett Altonstall, Rep.-Mass., of the Senate armed services committee:

"On the basis of the facts as I know them, under this program we will be building as rapidly as we can a more adequate air force than was originally planned by the last administration."

In apparent reply to air force advocates, the president said it would be foolish and dangerous "to be hypnotized by magic numbers." He said one military man would argue hotly for a given number of aircraft as an "absolute minimum" while another might say plans of a different kind were "imperative."

Eisenhower said the government must equally avoid "a needlessly high rate of federal spending in excess of federal income" or "any penny-wise, pound-foolish policy that could, through lack of needed strength, cripple the cause of freedom everywhere."

"This middle way may lack drama and sensation, but it has sense and strength — lasting strength.

"It may not scream with shrill crisis and emergency. But it speaks with conviction and realism."

TORY BACKS 'PLUMPING'

One of the parties to a coalition that mothered the alternative ballot came out for "plumping" Tuesday night.

The suggestion that a voter should not enter second choices was made by Walter Miles who chaired a meeting at George Jay School for three Conservative city candidates.

The same suggestion was made at a CCF meeting last week by Saanich High School principal, Dr. J. M. Thomas.

Police Beat Him, Genest Tells Court

MONTREAL (BUP). — The trial of Roland Genest, 34, who is charged with the slaying of his girl-friend, continued today after Genest testified Tuesday, with the jury excluded, that an alleged murder confession was obtained by police through force.

Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure ruled the statement admissable after Det. Merrill Lawton and Det. Ubald Legault, head of the provincial police homicide squad, denied the charge.

The statement was expected to be read to the jury today.

Genest was charged with beating 23-year-old Marie Paule Langlais on the head with a baseball bat, driving her to nearby Ile Bizard and then stabbing her to death.

Genest said that Lawton thrashed him for 15 minutes at the provincial police headquarters to obtain the statement.

"Did you tell them that you had got a baseball bat and hit Marie Paule Langlais," asked Chief Crown Prosecutor John Bumbray.

"Yes," he replied.

"You told the police that you had taken the body to Ile Bizard?"

"Yes."

Mr. Justice Lazure asked, "If you said these things and they were true, as you now declare, why were you beaten?"

"I was beaten to make me talk," he said. "I didn't want to be hit any more."

Mr. Justice Lazure found the statement to be given "freely and voluntarily."

Siamese Twins Born in Canada Make Progress

INVERNESS, N.S. (CP) — The smaller of Siamese twin boys born here Tuesday to the 19-year-old wife of a garage mechanic today was reported in improved condition after doctors had earlier described him as "not doing so well."

Dr. Ronald Ritchie of Children's Hospital at Halifax said the child appeared brighter. After an earlier examination he had reported the tiny boy "a bit distressed."

The twin boys, whose total weight at birth was 13 pouns, are resting in a hastily-fashioned incubator following their delivery by caesarean section.

The twins were born to Mrs. Max Wyrwas. The first started to breathe about a minute after birth. The other began breathing four to five minutes later, after artificial respiration had been applied.

Dr. Frank MacLeod, chief surgeon of the Inverness County Memorial Hospital, gave them an excellent chance of survival. "I can't see any reason why they won't live," he said. "They are perfectly healthy."

Hospital officials said it was too early to discuss a possible operation to separate them.

The twins are joined face-to-face from close to the neck to the navel by a bone. "Otherwise," said Dr. MacLeod, "they are perfectly healthy.

"It was a bit of sixth sense and a bit of luck that we decided to go ahead with a caesarean."

Edwin MacLean, husband of one of the attendant nurses, took one look at the only incubator available at the hospital, then rushed to his woodworking shop to make a larger one. He finished the job in 2½ hours.

THE POLITICAL POT

Only five of the 28 Greater Victoria candidates in the June 9 election campaign are native Victorians.

They are Independent Mayor Claude L. Harrison, Esquimalt CCF candidate Frank Mitchell, and the three city Tory candidates, Arthur Chapman, Robert Patch and Monte Drake.

Only eight of the 28 were even born in B.C.

Three Saskatchewan legislators, including a cabinet minister, will arrive in B.C. next week to assist the CCF in the campaign.

They are Education Minister Woodrow Lloyd, Alex Kuziak Canora and G. W. Burton, Humboldt.

Sensible Compromise

WITHIN THE NEXT FEW days approximately 3,000 transport workers in Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster are expected to ratify recommendations of their negotiating committee to accept compromise terms with the B.C. Electric. That means the bus strike threatened in the three main cities of this province will not occur.

Settlement is long reached as it should be in such cases, before a crippling tie-up inflicts injury on the company, the employees and the community.

A willingness to give and take has been shown by both sides in the question. The original demands of the unions have been scaled down to a point little higher than those recommended by a majority report of conciliators and below the terms specified in the minority report.

Financial readjustments and probably some reduction in mileage will be required to make up for a higher wage bill the B.C. Electric will have to meet. The suggestion has been made that relief will be sought by the company in certain taxation fields, civic, provincial and federal, so that operations may continue without any fare increase. A higher tariff would discourage use by the traveling public—a factor which would increase, rather than diminish, the financial difficulties arising from the wage boost.

The new scale places the company's transport workers in favored position in Canada. It marks an income increase at a time when the cost of living, by the latest statistics, is continuing to recede, if only fractionally. The inference to be drawn from that point will not be lost on the union members.

The result should be generally satisfying. The public, which inevitably suffers in a transport strike, has been spared that inconvenience. The distrusts and bitterness, to say nothing of the loss, entailed by a tie-up have been avoided.

The strike has ended where all strikes should end—before it began. Obviously the increased costs will have to be met through some economies, but the costs will be nothing like those that would have arisen had the union not shown a degree of common sense in reducing its original requests.

Too Big a Bite

THE ADMISSION OF C.C.F. leader Arnold Webster last week that if elected to power his party would "in time" take over the huge Alcan development at Kitimat is one that should be carefully examined by every voter.

Questioned by his Duncan audience, Mr. Webster mentioned "electricity and breweries" as among the first industries which a socialist government would remove from private hands. The great aluminum-power industry that will eventually create a new city of 35,000 on the British Columbia coast would be a later target.

It is difficult to see how Mr. Webster can believe that a board of directors appointed by him or his cabinet would be better qualified to run the Alcan development than the men who have spent their lives mastering the problems of the industry and who have sufficient belief in their capabilities and the people of this province to invest half a billion dollars in the venture.

Such an extensive appropriation of industry, by whatever means the C.C.F. might use, would be a serious enough blow to the economic life of the country. But the danger of such utterances as Mr. Webster's goes much farther.

What private investor or group of investors contemplating the creation of new industries and new payrolls in British Columbia would go ahead with a project under the threat that when it was established and running nicely the government would step in and take it over in a forced sale?

The prosperity of this province, second to none in Canada today, was not built on such conditions. The hundreds of millions being poured into development of our resources, the millions being paid out in wage envelopes every week, would not be seen today if a socialist government was here to frighten away private enterprise.

If the argument is advanced that the government itself could take the place of private enterprise and establish new industries, it would require a good deal of proving to convince an intelligent public. The history of such ventures in other countries is informative but not inspiring.

One recalls the millions of pounds lost in the Labor government-sponsored plan to grow peanuts in Africa, and other large-scale projects that have not borne fruit. One needs only to recall the problems that beset the building of a local arena to imagine what could happen to a $500-million venture.

Development could be delayed for many years; work and wages could fail to materialize in a dozen places where they should, if private investment, willing to risk capital in return for profits, were to be frightened off or forbidden to operate.

Mr. Webster's socialism can mean only one thing in respect of industry—and only one thing in respect of B.C. which now is enjoying a large share of Canada's boom.

Check on the Bad Driver

BY EXTENDING THE PRACTICE of license-suspension into a definite policy to cut down the toll exacted by bad drivers on provincial highways, the government has taken a sane and progressive step.

In the outline presented by Attorney-General Bonner last week, the scheme seems both reasonable and potentially effective. Two purposes will be accomplished by it. The threat of license suspension should have a decisively sobering effect on car operators who have been, or are inclined to be, careless. And as suspensions are applied fewer dangerous drivers will be left on the road.

Cancellation of driving privileges has proved a strong sanction. It is gratifying to note that it will be brought into wider use in an effort to cut down needless accidents.

Under the plan announced by Mr. Bonner the driver appears to be placed at no disadvantage. As long as he operates his car prudently and is physically capable he has little reason to worry. If he lacks the ability or the will to exercise proper caution on the highway, he should not be allowed to drive.

Moreover, provision of a court of appeal from suspension orders gives him the legal protection he should expect.

The policy will not, of course, eliminate all accidents. It should, on the other hand, go a long way toward removing one of the most frequent causes of mishaps—the bad driver who is a menace both to himself and to everyone else.

What's in the Cocktail?

VICTORIA'S CABINET MEMber in the last administration preceding Social Credit, Mr. W. T. Straith, QC, has challenged Premier Bennett to make known the contents of the liquor legislation Mr. Bennett said was ready shortly after the last session prorogued. The premier has yet to accept the challenge. His silence provokes some puzzlement and concern.

The proposed act is ready, according to the Bennett announcement. And it will follow the recommendations of the Stevens' inquiry commission, according to the same authority. But the proposed legislation, despite its interest to the public, has been kept under wraps. Is it to remain secret until after the election?

Obviously no liquor act will please all the people. The one prepared by the Social Credit administration will be no exception. Is that why Mr. Straith's challenge has brought no reply?

No greater mandate could be provided for any such controversial matter than the endorsement of candidates who support such an act if its terms are made public. Here, surely, is an excellent opportunity to test opinion on legislation that has grown out of British Columbia's dissatisfaction with the old act.

Mr. Straith's invitation stands. The people of this province would like to see it accepted.

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The Peaceful Volcano

ORVIETO, Italy—In the blue twilight of the Apennines we blundered by wild chance upon Orvieto, "the city of silence," which must be the loveliest thing in Italy.

Like a volcano of bronze erupting from the green sea of the Umbrian valley, the town stood ragged against the sunset, five miles away. And, indeed, this circular upthrust of rock is a volcano, long dead, on which the ancient Etruscans built their little town of caves, long since replaced by a Roman city and finally by an isolated gem of Renaissance art.

Hutchison

From the distance Orvieto looked deserted and unkempt, offering no hospitality to the weary traveler. But when we had climbed the long hill by a switchback road we stumbled, with unerring luck, upon the Albergo Palace, the perfect inn, with food and wine to tickle the palate of Bacchus or Lucullus.

MORE important, we encountered the proprietor of this unique resort among the clouds, Dr. Mario Tordi, a Roman economist, of all things, whose thesis at the university, was written on Roosevelt's New Deal. A patrician of Rome, an officer of Mussolini's wars and a gentleman of penetration and exquiste taste, Dr. Tordi rescued us from a ferocious journey through the mountains.

In the candlelight we talked until the early hours of the morning, sipping a divine brandy, laid down in his cellars by his grandfather.

It would be unfair to quote such a candid gentleman when he exposed the heart of his country, its mistakes, its glories and its hopes. Suffice it to say that in the morning he pointed to the intricate stone lacework of the cathedral (on which 23 of Italy's greatest artists labored without pay for a lifetime) and asked me: "The kind of people who do such work as this—can they be a wicked people as many foreigners seem to think?"

MUSSOLINI'S wars are finished for Dr. Tordi. He hates war as only a soldier of a defeated country can hate it. Yet this tiny town on the tip of a volcano was filled today with soldiers—smart and handsome youths who are training here to become officers in the European Army of NATO.

A thousand or so of them attended church parade in the cathedral of zebra-striped black and white stone and afterwards marched down the tiny, twisting street behind a band playing like a symphony orchestra. Whether they knew it or not, they were the successors of Etruscan fighters with weapons of tempered bronze, the Roman legions and the armies of the Italian city states, which never knew what they were fighting about as they ravished one of the fairest countries in the world.

TO REACH this eagle's aerie we had come a long way from Naples through a hundred towns clinging for defense to the tops of impossible mountain peaks, through valleys fat with newly-sprouting grain, grapes and olives, the labor of more than 20 centuries. We had even traveled for 10 miles imprisoned by a bicycle race and its screaming procession of motorcycles, automobiles and gesticulating policemen.

At Cassino we paused to observe the naked pinnacle of rock where the Germans made their stand and the Allies destroyed the great monastery by artillery fire. Now the ruined town in the valley has been completely rebuilt, and the townsmen were gathered for the Saturday market as if there had been no war.

TO mark this historic spot in my mind I bought an Italian hat, which I considered magnificent. Not, however, until the proprietor of the shop had demonstrated the virtues of Italian felt by wringing the hat in his hands, laying it carefully on the floor and stamping it under his feet, then re-blocking it on a whirling machine, meanwhile [illegible] and placing it on my head as if it were the ancient crown of Rome. The price of $5 was dirt-cheap but my bulging pocketful of inflated Italian paper money (620 lira to the dollar) was not sufficient and I resorted to the sound dollars of traveler's cheques.

By now we were sated and bored by endless art galleries, sculpture, architecture and all those splendors of Italy that can be taken safely in small doses only. Frankly, I would not have traded my indestructible hat for all the art in the country. I asked only a night's repose from the traffic, the crowds, the clamorous towns, the twisted roads and the cloying culture too rich for a bewildered Canadian countryman.

SUCH repose seemed unlikely. We were contemplating a night in our car upon a lonely hillside, when the stage setting of Orvieto loomed across the sunset. The City of Silence, the only quiet place in Italy, took us to its bosom, as it has taken uncounted travelers since the age of bronze and stone.

When we left next day I carried in my suitcase a priceless relic, the like of which perhaps does not exist in Canada. That great-hearted scholar and gentleman, Dr. Tordi, had compelled me to accept one of his few remaining specimens of Etruscan pottery, a little dish fashioned by hands which ceased their labors some 10 centuries before Christ.

Looking back at the volcano with its black silhouette of towers, I remembered Dr. Tordi's question, torn from the innermost heart of an Italian who has known suffering and defeat. Can such a people be wicked? The superb fragment of Etruscan pottery in my valise will always answer that question for me.

A New Eliza Crossing the Ice

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

MY brother Pip once owned an ocean-going cutter. And she did go to sea, too, for he sailed her from here to Hawaii, Fanning Island, Fiji, Tonga, Rarotonga, Tahiti, up to Hawaii again, and back here. During which voyage he met many curious blokes who cannot be conveniently described in a family journal. Anyhow, the name of his little ship was "Escapee." She was already named that when he bought her, and since it is rather bad luck to change a ship's name he left her at that, though it is a foolish name. Foolish for three reasons: it is an ugly word, it is a word that doesn't or shouldn't exist, and it hints at voyages away from things rather than toward things, as though the vessel were sailing backwards.

Brock

WELL, his small niece asked me the other day, "Was the name of Pip's boat the Hee-rosion?" A lovely name indeed. It carries the suggestion of heroism, heaving, rolling, and erosion. And if a yacht does one thing more than another, it is surely the act of erosion. It erodes itself. It gnaws itself slowly away, and eats itself apart. Everything wears out. No matter what you spend and what work you put in on her, she can still fool you. A well-known Vancouver yachtsman once wrote that it is silly to say yachting is for rich men only. No, he said, whether you are rich or poor, your boat just demands whatever you've got . . . that is to say, all you've got. And he might have added that she'll erode anyway.

I WELL remember the look of the Escapee (otherwise the Hee-rosion) the day she sailed back into Coal Harbor, at Vancouver, after about 16 months in the South Seas. In spite of chafing gears on the shrouds and stays, her canvas was chafed to bits. The running rigging was more like bleached rags of fur than rope . . . knotted strips of albino fur.

The shrouds and stays had been renewed at Tahiti, but they were rusting away . . . they had held through a most terrific gale northeast of Hawaii, a gale that twice dipped the lee spreader (cross-tree) into the sea, which is to say that the vessel was exactly on her beam ends, but they looked as if they would never hold again. The once-white freeboard was stained all the colors of decay. As for conditions down below . . . words fail me. The engine was broken. The sanitary arrangements had been broken for the best part of a year. There was no food left, no crockery, and not even any cutlery.

ONE OF THE welcoming committee produced a big black bottle. The toast of welcome was drunk from a single and battered old coffee tin . . . what a loving cup! I wish to goodness my daughter had got the Escapee's name wrong at that moment. I'd have enjoyed drinking to the good ship Hee-rosion.

THE NOBILITY

I WAS reading about the queer courts maintained by the black kings of Haiti. One of these kings, I forget which (Toussaint? Cristophe?), decided his nobility lacked titles that were dainty and picturesque. So he created one of his pals the Count of Lemonade, and another the Duke of Marmalade. I especially like the latter, with its Marmaduke air. Something marmaducal about it. And so very Calypso-ish. (Is the adjective Calypsoid?) I hope there was a Marquis of Marinade . . . he could have been marinated and soaked in perfumery . . . soak the rich!

DEFYING THE SPOOKS

OH . . . talking about marmalade! In a memoir about his days at Eton, which might have been 60 years ago, the late Sir Desmond MacCarthy describes some freaks and human oddities. One boy was terrified of both living spies and dead ones. He dealt with the former by poking a stiletto through key-holes. If anyone was peeking through (which luckily never happened!) the peeker would get a knife through his nasty snooping eyeball. But he didn't know how to keep ghosts out of his room, till some kind friends told him that if he put plenty of marmalade on the outer door-handle each night, no ghost would dare to come in.

HE GRATEFULLY adopted this precaution. Each night when the housemaster went his rounds he got a handful of the stuff, and each night he warned the boy that the morning's punishment would be worse. Little thrashings led to big ones, and big ones led to an informal mental examination, which led to expulsion. But the boy felt that lickings and expulsion are better than ghosts any day (or night).

LOUTS

BY THE way, in this same memoir Sir Desmond said sarcastically that in spite of being a lout, a certain boy wasn't an athlete, "not even an oarsman." That's a pretty unfair crack at rowers, I said to myself. "Lout" implies folly as well as awkwardness. I've not known many oarsmen, but surely there must be some I've known with physical and mental grace? So I went through my little list of half-forgotten rowers at school and college. And to my horror, I realized that four out of five of them were louts, and still are.

Well, I still protest that Sir Desmond and I were merely unlucky in our oarsmen, that's all. And dammit, some on my list DO have charm. One of them became a slot-machine king in a big American city, and one is the world's champion borrower of money, and in both occupations you have to be a smoothie. And that goes for the one who is a great salesman as a fashionable doctor, too. So you see how crazy it is to generalize.

As Our Readers See It

VOTE STURDILY

In terms of individual character it is arresting to view such candidates as the new Liberal nominee for leadership in that party.

This man, because of his espousal of "true" Liberal convictions in "undiluted" form, quietly removed himself for some time from the political picture. So intelligent is our electorate that when the honorable Conservative party felt the necessity to "prop" its structure by prefixing "progressive," the effect was doubt and dismay, and from thence it seemed a retarded cause.

It becomes increasingly apparent that the men as well as the party come in for equal treatment in terms of allegiance. We are now presented with a multitudinous supply of candidates who undoubtedly possess good intentions but have lost sight of the "futility" of scattering the vote.

Let us vote sturdily for one candidate and base it upon past performance toward firmness in government with healthy opposition.

"AN OBJECTIVE READER."

LEAVE NO DOUBT

It seems that during the past 12 months a virus has crept into B.C. which has had a disturbing effect on the electorate of the province despite the prosperous times we are living in. Now that the political two old-line parties are back under new leadership it is to be hoped they will retrieve some of their losses in this election campaign.

Being a Liberal I wish to pay a small tribute to Arthur Laing, the new leader of the provincial Liberal Party, who recently resigned his seat in the federal government to give his time and talents in the interests of liberalism in this province. Furthermore, he kept himself clear of the former Coalition Government during its regime and on these two points alone has shown what liberalism stands for at its best.

This should leave no doubt in the minds of those citizens who have the welfare of the province—and may I say the future of Canada also—at heart which party should be returned to power to administer the affairs of British Columbia on June 9.

CORRECTED FIGURE

I have every sympathy with reporters who have to listen to endless political speeches these days and this letter is not a complaint but a request that you publish it as a slight correction to the report of my speech at the George Jay School on Friday night.

I am reported as estimating profits in the forest industry at $300,000,000. What I gave was the figure for wages and salaries as $145,000,000 and from that estimated that total costs would be slightly more than twice that figure, i.e., $300,000,000. As total value of products was $512,000,000 I estimated net returns after costs at $200,000,000.

I am not blaming your reporter for this, for he had no chance to check with me after the meeting as I left before it was over to keep another engagement. But the discrepancy between the report and my statement was too large to let it go.

BUSINESS PHONES

I have waited months for a telephone to be installed but have no assurance there will be one for some time yet. How is it that the ex-Liberal member for Oak Bay can have two phones in his campaign rooms within a matter of days?

(Editor's Note: The telephone company explains that campaign office installations are business phones and thus have priority over residential service. Also in some cases temporary wires are strung to supply emergency service for what is considered a matter of public necessity.)

From Our Files

May 20, 1893—Hon. J. Kitto, consul here for Japan, received a dispatch from Tokyo saying the Japanese minister has been withdrawn from Korea and advising him to act accordingly.

May 20, 1913—Under the heading of Brief News of the City it was announced that Phoenix beer was selling for $1.50 a dozen quarts.

May 20, 1933—Victoria hotels were packed as 300 Northwest Rotarians arrived for a district conference at the same time as 100 delegates to the meeting of the Pacific Coast Coffee Association.

'Clearly Gaining'

Elmore Philpott, in The Vancouver Sun

The revitalized Liberal party, under the steady-going, moderate leadership of Art Laing, is clearly gaining. The fact that the Socreds have switched their heaviest attacks from the CCF to the Laing Liberals speaks for itself.

Last November Mr. Bennett boasted that Social Credit would win all 48 of the seats in the Legislature.

Two months ago he lowered that claim to 40 seats.

Now the Social Credit Party buys newspaper space to advertise they can win 25 or more seats. Some comedown—with three weeks to go!

The Social Credit slump goes right back to a Biblical principle: "A house divided against itself cannot stand."

Half of the Social Credit leaders are carecrist Tories who are secretly opposed to the monetary principles of their own new-joined party. They have sternly forbidden any discussion of "just price fixing," whereby all goods would be sold in stores at less than cost!

The same thing applies in regard to the Social Credit two-pronged attack on the B.C. schools—for the Rolston Formula and against effective living teaching. When Mr. Reid of Salmon Arm made his "sex and socialism" attack, the ex-Tories in the cabinet repudiated that outburst from their own party supporter. Now Mr. Reid claims that Premier Bennett secretly supported him 100 per cent in caucus. And Hon. Eric Martin publicly describes Mr. Reid as "the hero of Salmon Arm." It's double-talk or double-dealing.

Last time Social Credit was every other party's second choice. This time I doubt it will be any other party's second choice.

That is why it seems to me to come down to this: Either we could get a neck-and-neck deadlock with the CCF, Liberals and Socreds getting about 15 seats each. Or, if Laing continues to forge ahead for the next three weeks, as he has done so far, the new Liberals could emerge with a clear working majority, with CCF running second.

ON THE TIMES

Soft Words and Long Drapes

I AM BUSY now preparing to rewrite Shakespeare so there will be no swear words in the dialogue. In the process I'm going to eliminate entirely a fat rascal called Falstaff. He is not a fit and proper person for any policeman to see on the stage, the authorities on obscenity being what they are.

Stott

When I have finished that project—and it won't be before a week next Thursday—I have in mind a new little original play entitled "A Streetcar Called Uplands," a historical piece with the alternative title "Let's Go Out and Pick Daisies if the Society for the Propagation and Preservation of Native Plants and Wildflowers Doesn't Object." Hmm. Maybe we'd better drop "Propagation" from that title.

BUT ALWAYS VICTORIAN

In my own modest little way, I'm going to celebrate the dawn of the new Elizabethan era with a Victorian sunrise. I'll do it with that play. It'll be pastoral, but the limbs on every tree will be draped.

The social significance of the drama will be tremendous. It will set a new vogue. After its 3,972nd week's successful run, I venture to say there won't be a tree in the entire B.C. forest with a limb showing.

No, that the process will be costly. We'll have sheer nylon covers for all old and mature oaks for the first day of September. Have to hold a little to the traditions.

And if you're impressed by the social significance of this new crusade, think of the economic results. With all the drapery needed for the style, we'll put Britain back on her feet through the output of the Lancashire cotton industry, and raise Mother India up with the demand for her cottage weaving products.

Oh, there's a new day coming—a bright and shining day when the simplicities of little children will replace that distasteful trend that was called realism.

Obviously the intellectual people of Victoria will take the lead. In place of present courses at the College, Harry Hickman and Bob Wallace will doubtless employ members of the city police force to conduct classes in advanced English, the drama and what's fitten in the written and spoken word.

There won't be any room for discussion of the Oedipus complex or any of the nasty themes the old Greeks or later-day classics wrapped up as literature. There won't be anything improper or obscene. Or if there is, we'll cover it up and pretend it isn't there.

THE NEW SOCIETY

You can see the trend spreading through society. If perchance, while you're driving you don't notice the sign saying "Stop When Occupied" by a pedestrian lane, you'll find a man in uniform with a Chesterfieldian flourish asking you kindly to draw into the curb.

The world will be a better place as the spirit of "Let's Go Out and Pick Daisies if the Society for the Preservation of Native Plants and Wildflowers Doesn't Mind" makes its influence felt.

Everyday language will improve. The amateur carpenter who bashes his thumb with a hammer will pause only to exclaim in restrained phrases over the beauty of the colors appearing on that digit.

And if some depraved character insists on being depraved, we'll allow him a "By gad, sir," though it isn't very nice.

The Law-Makers Pack Up

THE seventh and final session of the 21st parliament ended, as it had begun, in a burst of oratory. That is one of the notable features of the session, the number of spoken words that are now preserved for posterity in Hansard, filling almost 5,500 pages, or 1,000 pages more than during the sixth session.

Reason for the heavy wordage is not hard to find. This year is a general election year. Members of Parliament with one eye cocked on the hustings are anxious to get themselves down on record on various issues, so as to make a favorable impression on their constituents.

M.P.'s as they packed their bags and emptied their filing cases did so with mixed feelings. Some have already declared that they will not return because they are retiring. Others may be retired by their electorate. All were well aware that before another parliament is called into being the voters will have been asked to register their approval or disapproval of the present administration.

August 10 is the date most members believe will see the voters going to the polls. But quietly the word was circulated along the corridors as the members prepared to depart that Prime Minister L. S. St. Laurent still had not definitely decided on an August date. There was always the possibility he might decide to delay the vote until November.

The session was longer than need be, but most sessions are. The Coronation on June 2 helped bring it to a close. The prime minister and other members of Canada's official party had indicated their desire to leave for London about mid-May and that was set as the target date for prorogation.

The legislative program was heavy in volume but important measures were few and far between. Private and divorce bills bulked large, as did a number of relatively minor amendments to existing legislation.

As usual there was a last-minute rush to get through estimates and bring the session to a close. This is a problem that has become perpetual in the Canadian parliament. At the start of the session the House devotes several wordy weeks to general debate on any and all subjects. Inevitably at the close of the session the members are swamped with work, both in the chamber and in committees.

Always a most important item of business is the budget. This session was no exception.

The budget was of record size, calling for expenditures of $4,450 million. Hon. Douglas Abbott estimated his prospective revenues at $4,710 million which would yield a budget surplus of $260 million in the coming year. The finance minister has declared that this was his last budget and he was proud of it.

He pointed out that two-thirds of the tax burden imposed after the outbreak of war in Korea had been wiped out, yet Canada was still able to carry her share of the costs of collective defense. He disclosed that close to $250 million could be devoted to tax relief in his last budget.

The Liberal government has balanced its budgets and reduced the public debt. It stopped and reversed the surge of inflation. It has improved if not wholly solved the complicated relationships of federal-provincial finance. The record of the government in the past four years has seen earlier programs of social welfare extended and improved. Health services have been enlarged. By an expansion of scientific services and technical surveys Canadian frontiers have been rolled back. The finance minister had a right to be proud.

Toward the close of the session Hon. Paul Martin, minister of national health and welfare, announced further health programs. They provide for $42 million of aid this year for enlargement of health services in the provinces. The new program covers aid to mothers, babies, disabled persons and increased laboratory and diagnostic services. Even the chief health critic in the opposition, Dr. W. G. Blair (PC, Lanark), spoke approvingly of the program.

Eating Talent Hit on TV

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Two of the biggest hits on television today—in more ways than one—are a pair of 23-year-old girl twins from New York whose TV talents consist of eating.

Dark-haired Joan and Harriet Gardner also became video virtuosos by the further talent of standing on a pair of scales once in a while, indicating this entertainment medium is one of the world's easiest.

The overweight twins were imported from Riverdale, in The Bronx area, to advertise a reducing plan. The plot of this plan is that one twin, Joan, keeps on imbibing milkshakes and cream puffs while the other, Harriet, follows the company's reducing diet and pills.

The public got so interested in the twins' poundage that, in addition to appearing in their own TV commercials, they're guest stars on other national programs. By rushing between studios, they manage to appear on 20 TV shows a day, which is a record, too.

"People stop us on the street to ask how the diet is coming," Harriet said shyly, and looked at her heavier sister and giggled.

"Waitresses recognize us already, and refuse even to give me any cream."

The girls bounced into show business after they spotted an ad for overweight twins in a New York newspaper. They were the only twins who answered the ad and, thanks to a lack of competition, walked off with the job and the same day were flown to Hollywood.

Harriet is down to 157 and Joan has gained a few pounds, now weighing in at 203.

"I've decided to get married again," Harriet announced. "I was married before and divorced.

"He thought I was too fat," she smiled. "My sister and I both started to gain weight about five years ago. Now I'm looking for a husband. It's easier for a thin girl to find a guy.

"But, a lot of fellas like weight on a girl," she added, wistfully eyeing my candy bar.

As soon as Harriet is down to 135 pounds, the girls' job ends and they go back to New York. Then Joan plans to diet to 135, too—and they'll both start taking in their clothes.

CORONATION PREVIEW

4 Canadians Royal Ushers

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP)—Four "durable" Canadians have been appointed by the Earl Marshal's office to act as gold staff officers at the Coronation.

Gold staff officers in effect are royal ushers in the grand manner. They carry short gold staffs bearing the Queen's cipher and will direct guests to their seats in Westminster Abbey.

The job means that the four Canadians will have to be in the Abbey before 5 a.m., and will be on their feet continuously until early afternoon—hence, a Canadian official said, the need for "durable" men.

The Canadians, nominated by the Earl Marshal, the Duke of Norfolk, are Lt.-Col. H. E. C. Price of Quebec City, secretary of the Canadian joint staff; Louis Couillard of Ottawa, first secretary of Canada House; Robert Campbell Smith of Vancouver, commercial secretary, and G. G. Crean of Toronto, counsellor.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

The alarm will continue to ring for Bob Fleming at 5 o'clock in the morning.

The new British Columbia amateur golf champion is a perfectionist and nothing better than that alone will satisfy the 22-year-old youngster.

If you think this title came easy to the Gorge Vale star, you're wrong. Twice before it had escaped him but not this time. The three hours diligent training every day before work finally paid off in victory.

Walker

It's a great lesson—Fleming's title triumph—a lesson in concentration and plain hard work. Following two heart-breaking defeats, once to Jim Squire at 37th on a stymie, of all things, and again a narrow 2 and 1 loss to Mawhinney, Fleming decided his game needed brushing up. He temporarily retired from the competitive field and went about changing his style with invaluable assistance from Gorge Vale pro Joe Pryke.

Those who saw him in the B.C. Amateur without a doubt witnessed one of the top simon pures of the province in action. When Fleming missed the pin, which was rarely, he usually missed the green, so sharp was his game. He was nearly always inside Jackie Reynolds, the pressure finally telling on the Vancouver gamester on the final 18 holes. The guy who makes the most mistakes is more often than not the loser and Fleming made few from tee to green through the 36 holes.

Fleming's closest battle came from George "Porky" Andrews and only Andrews knows what agony he went through as he battled the champion down to the final semifinal hole before bowing in defeat. Suffering from an arthritic condition, Andrews wasn't sure where the malady would strike next. One day it was in his hands, the next his shoulder and then his hip. But he bit back the obvious pain, the weariness of the terrific grind of 36 holes a day showing in his drawn and gaunt features.

"Porky" asked no favors and gave none, remarking philosophically: "I'm all right if I dose myself up with aspirin." It was truly a great performance from a great athlete.

Tennis at Its Brilliant Best

Tennis, featuring the biggest racquet wielders of them all—Jack Kramer, Frank Sedgman, Pancho Segura and Ken McGregor—hits town tonight and it's a show you shouldn't miss, neighbors.

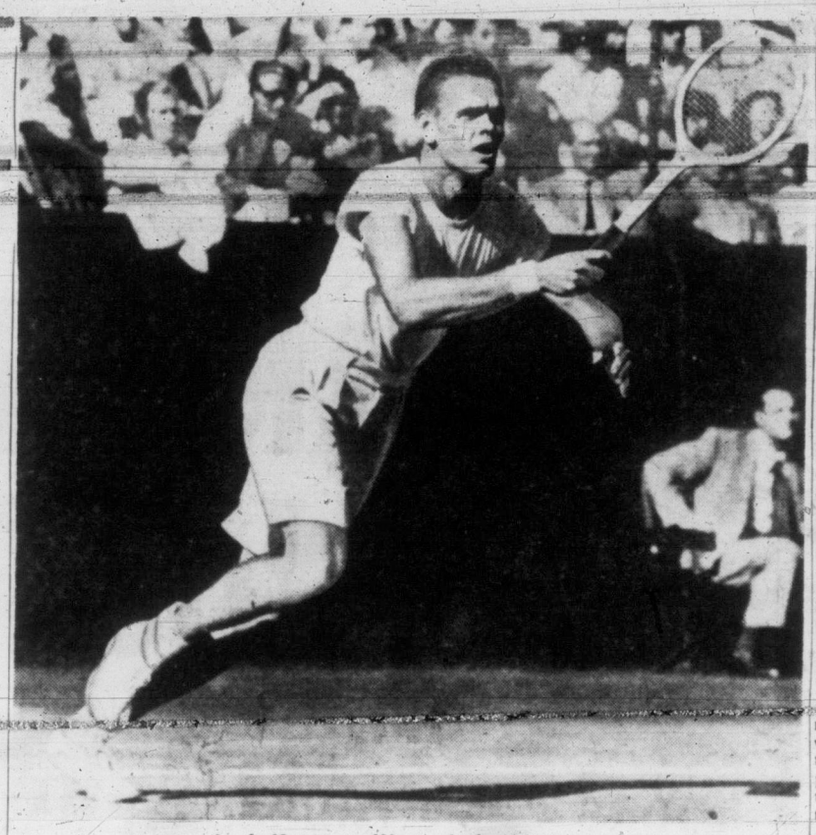
Kramer and Sedgman are so evenly matched that it was only through a string of 11 victories in 12 matches in the deep south that Kramer gained his championship edge over the former amateur champion. Sedgman, by his own admission, claims the calibre of his game has been raised 50 per cent since the tour began some months ago.

Sedgman's running mate from "down under," Ken McGregor, has been overshadowed by his more colorful opponent, little Pancho Segura, but the handsome Aussie is regarded as the peer of the quartet when it come to doubles. And in this regard Sedgman and McGregor reportedly have been giving the needle to Kramer and Segura. The all-conquering amateurs have carried this superiority into the pro ranks and, it is the only bauble left for them in the present tour, they don't intend to let this mythical championship slip into American hands.

Tournament Style Next Year's Vogue

Regarding future tours of this nature, it appears likely, as reported here earlier, that tournament style will prevail. Sets will probably be extended to eight games minimum with a draw for opponents to be made before each night's play and the winners of single set matches to meet for the biggest take of that particular night's gate. All proceeds would then be split down the line on a percentage basis.

But for tennis at its best, Memorial Arena's the place, and the entire big four—Kramer, Sedgman, Segura and McGregor, will be here at 8 o'clock.



Jack Kramer, King of the Netters

Top Pro Tennis Talent Goes on View Tonight

A man who walks shoulder to shoulder with the all-time tennis greats, Jack Kramer will be at Memorial Arena tonight with a bundle of net talent that is worth its weight in gold.

The Kramer traveling troupe, which includes colorful Pancho Segura and Australians Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, was scheduled to arrive in Victoria at noon today for tonight's arena appearance which starts at 8.

Segura, the Ecuadorian exponent of the two-handed forehand, meets McGregor in the opening singles match, followed by a best-of-three singles match between Kramer and Sedgman.

Americans Kramer and Segura then meet the Aussies in a doubles match.

Although rangy Kramer recently won his fourth consecutive world professional championship, Sedgman is rated as the perfect match for Kramer.

But for one bad losing streak, which eventually cost him the championship, Sedgman has been playing on level terms with Kramer and all reports indicate they have been playing superb tennis.

The fiercely competitive Segura has built up a wide lead over McGregor, who plays his strongest game in doubles competition.

The doubles program has provided some of the best talent as a rivalry almost with a Davis Cup flavor has grown between the Americans and the Australians who hold an edge in doubles play.

CHAMP DEFEATED

BROOKLYN (AP)—Art Persley, 134½, New Orleans lightweight, outboxed and outpunched Percy Bassett, 132, to gain a unanimous decision over interim featherweight champion from Philadelphia in a 10-round bout at Eastern Parkway Arena Monday night.

SERIOUS LOSS

Browning Out With Broken Hand

Archie Browning, slender scoring star of the Victoria Shamrocks, will be lost to his team for an indefinite period.

Leader of the Intercity Lacrosse League individual scoring race prior to Monday's game with Nanaimo Native Sons, Browning has a broken bone in his right hand and it is believed he may be out for two weeks or more.

Browning was injured in a freakish accident in the opening minutes of the game at Nanaimo's Civic Arena. Cutting behind the Nanaimo goal after a shot, Browning slipped on a wet spot on the floor and crashed heavily into the end boards.

He continued to play until forced to leave with a bruised leg muscle, sustained later in the rough game.

X-rays taken Tuesday showed that Browning had broken one of the small bones in the back of his right hand and the hand is now in a cast.

Tomilson pitched his second straight two-hitter to set Eagles down and Denny Perry helped the starry flinger out with a home run.

Mrs. Husband Qualicum Champ

Victoria Golf Club's Mrs. Harold Husband won a large share of the 22nd annual Upper Island Golf Tournament at Qualicum Beach Golf Club Monday.

Mrs. Husband won the women's championship flight and the Fordham Johnson trophy.

Ed Huyck of Marine Drive Golf Club, Vancouver, defeated Jack Egger of Duncan, 3 and 2, to win the men's championship and the Qualicum Beach Hotel challenge cup.

Medalists in the qualifying round were Ivan Aven of Courtenay and Mrs. Gordon Campbell of the host course.

FOUL BAY EDGES JOKERS

It Wasn't the Same Without Woolsey

It didn't seem the same Tuesday night as the Senior B Lacrosse League opened its season at Memorial Arena with the traditional rivals, Jokers and Foul Bay squaring off.

Voluble Roy Woolsey, who has piloted a succession of Joker teams with his powerful lungs, wasn't sitting on the Joker bench, as he had been advised to take it easy on the excitement.

Roy was sitting in the stands, along with the few paying customers, and it just didn't seem like a Foul Bay-Joker game without Woolsey hollering from the Joker bench and Alex Macdonald hollering back at him from the Foul Bay section.

However, the game was played at the usual Foul Bay-Joker pace, with the multi-sweatered Bays sweeping first game honors by virtue of a close 15-12 score.

Art Green made Jokers wild as he ran away for five Foul Bay goals and three assists. Don Sherry had three for the Bays, while Roy Lawrence scored a trio for Jokers.

Sherry had a busy night as he also played in the junior preliminary, scoring six goals as Oak Bay Merchants trounced Jokers Juniors, 14-8.

Scorers follow:

Jokers—George Wilson 1, Roy Lawrence 3, Wilf Scott 2, Andy Ovcharick 2, Vic Gallop 2, Roy Douglas 1, Vic Sage 1.

Foul Bay—Mel Davidson 1, Don Sherry 3, Ed Kowalyk 1, Derek Matthews 1, Ken Buckley 1, Jack Milburn 1, Art Green 5, Rerik 2.

Oak Bay—Don Sherry 6, Dave Edgar 2, Don Little, Bob Showers 1, Luke Price 1, Bill Branson 1, Ken Barnes 1.

Jokers—Ed Kowalyk 4, Ed Longpre 2, Steve Foster 1, Len Goudal 1.

Tyees Again Face Finance Problem

Not Going To Fold —Patterson

Spokane 3, Victoria 2

By BILL WALKER

Victoria Tyees are on the ropes again, but there's no danger of being counted out—not yet, at any rate.

Replying to a Vancouver report that the local Western International League club would fold and drop out of the league, because of financial problems, club general manager Reg Patterson today said:

"Things are rough, all right; but we're not going to fold, that's for sure."

Readily admitting that a marked increase in attendance would be the club's only salvation, Patterson was quick to point out that he didn't blame the baseball fans, but "mostly the weather."

We are down some 15,000 fans for the same number of games (14) last year," he said, "but the weather has been terrible. Just what we are going to do I'm not prepared to say until club president Arthur Cox returns."

Cox is in Vancouver at present while some of the other club directors are also out of town.

"Ten thousand dollars would put us in good shape," Patterson added when questioned as to the direct financial position of the club.

The Tyees found themselves in similar financial straits last spring. At that time a "save baseball" drive was launched and sufficient funds were raised to keep the club operating through the 1952 campaign, the club winning the league championship.

Poor weather at nearly all home games this year has kept attendance down to 12,000 in the first 14 games.

STILL WANT BASEBALL

"I am firmly convinced the people of Victoria still want baseball," Patterson commented, "and with the club in the first division I believe an increase in attendance will be shown with better weather."

Meanwhile, it has been announced that Bill Prior will join the club on a full-time basis following the next home stand. Efforts are also being made to secure additional infield and outfield strength as Manager Cec Garriott has expressed the need for reinforcements of this nature.

PLAYOFF CHANGE

A change in the split season has been proposed by Edmonton officials who have requested a six-team playoff. This will probably be discussed by league officials at their June 8 meeting. Patterson says he is not in favor of such a plan, preferring the split season or, if it comes to a vote, the Shaughnessey playoff system, whereby the top four teams would compete in a post-season series.

INDIANS WIN

The Tyees lost a close 3-2 decision to Spokane Indians Tuesday night as centre fielder Ed Murphy spiked a Tyee ninth-inning rally with a sensational catch.

Murphy grabbed a long drive by Garriott to double Bob Moniz, the potential tying run, off first base. Moniz was all the way past second when Murphy made the catch.

Tyees took a 1-0 lead in the first and held it until the fifth. Again the Tyees went to the front in the sixth, Jim Clark walking with the bases loaded to force in the second tally. Carl Bush doubled home the tying Spokane marker in the seventh.

A bad throw by pitcher Zeb Walker from a sitting position with runners on first and second enabled the Indians to score the winning run in the eighth.

In other games Tuesday, Salem tripped Wenatchee, 8-3, Calgary whipped Edmonton, 10-1, and Yakima edged Tri-City 3-1.

CITY PARKS COMMITTEE RECOGNIZES BALL NEEDS

An appeal for baseball diamonds in Victoria met with "immediate action" from city council's parks committee Tuesday.

The committee will ask council to spend $400 to provide a diamond at Topaz Park for the Minor Baseball League.

At the same time Ald. Waldo Skillings, chairman, agreed with a request from William Bridgewood, representing the league, for a survey of possible baseball sites by the committee and league officials.

"We are in dire distress for a place to play baseball," said Mr. Bridgewood. "We have 348 young boys—19 teams—in the league."

SEVEN FROM V & D LOOP

City All-Star Booters Named

Tommy Restell and George Kulai, manager and coach respectively of the Victoria All-Star soccer team, have selected the 14 players who will meet the touring Irish International All-Stars here June 2, Coronation Day.

Restell and Kulai, who piloted the team that scored the stunning 1-0 upset victory over Fulham two years ago, have selected seven players from the Victoria and District Football Association, six members of the Victoria United and one junior star.

Civil Service of the district league placed four players on the "dream team"—Ab and Joe Travis, Bob Allen and Harold Holroyd. Others selected from the district circuit are Adanacs' John Weldon, Stan Wiseman of Heaneys and Alan Wright of Canadian Scottish.

The six-man contingent from United lists Bill Hope, Joe Robbins, John Pickburn, Harry Carruthers, Denny McGee and Ray Wilkinson. George Wright, a clever junior player, was brought up to United from the junior Tillicums.

The 14 were selected from a list of 20 who have been attending workouts and now will vie for the 11 starting berths.

FAGAN PUTS $250,000 TAG ON SEALS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco Seals within 1½ games of the Pacific Coast League's cellar and sinking steadily, have been offered for sale Friday for $250,000 cash, "franchise, players, operating equipment and cushions."

Owner Paul I. Fagan, who has been blamed by fans for the club's poor showing this season, told the league president the offer is open for 60 days.

Fagan said he would lease Seals' stadium to any buyer of his team for a term of 10 years, at a rental equal to 10 cents per paid admission, the lessee to pay taxes and maintenance.

Eagles Take Soccer Crown

Eagles defeated Shepherd's Dairy Saturday to win the fifth division championship of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association and the Jock McColl Cup.

The game was a replay of a 1-1 tie earlier in the week when the clubs battled through four overtime periods without reaching a decision.

There was no scoring in the first half, but Glen Robbins gave Eagles a 1-0 lead late in the second half on a pass from Gary Robbins. Barry Saunders squared it when he picked up a loose ball and blasted it past the Eagle goalkeeper. David Benson proved to be the hero of the game as he scored the winning goal for Eagles on a long screened shot.

Britain Scores Davis Cup Sweep

OSLO (AP)—Great Britain Tuesday completed a 5-0 victory over Norway in their European zone Davis Cup tennis match by winning the last two singles matches. Norway's Rolf Pape hurt his foot in a dull baseline match against Tony Mottram and gave up with the score 6-2, 6-3, 5-1 in favor of the Briton.

Gerald Oakley outplayed Nils Erik Hessen, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0.

Fivepin Bowlers Hold Prize-Giving

The second annual fivepin bowling banquet of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans, unit 12, mixed league was held in Terry's dining room recently.

Fred Jarvis, captain of the winning team accepted the annual Brock Whitney trophy. Individual awards were presented to Jarvis, O. Hamilton, C. Fletcher, A. Fletcher, Miss L. Heal, Mrs. E. Hopwood, Mrs. J. Hopwood and Mrs. I. Thornber.

Mrs. M. Inglis and Don Corbett were awarded consolation prizes while Mrs. M. Carver was presented with a necklace for her work during the season as secretary-treasurer.

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Carpenter, all-star guard, has signed a 1953 contract with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union.

Gyros Score Second Little League Victory

Little League baseball went on stage again Tuesday night and the youngsters provided a game that was a perfect encore for Sunday's league curtain-raiser.

An unusual run in the bottom of the last inning gave Gyros a 6-5 victory over Oddfellows, Gyros' second straight victory.

The score was deadlocked at 5-5 going into the bottom of the sixth, Oddfellows having tied it in the top of the inning.

Oddfellows' starting pitcher, Bobby Edwards, walked Jack Impey and Doug Skinner to open the last half of the last inning and both runners moved up on a passed ball. Edwards tightened up and struck out Keith Robertson and Bob Taylor.

That brought up Jim Galbraith, who had rapped a double and single in earlier plate appearances. Catcher Barry Williams walked out to the mound to discuss pitching strategy with Edwards, but no one called time and Impey tore home with the winning run while the plate was unguarded.

Oddfellows held a 4-1 lead after three innings, but Gyros came back with four runs in the fourth on two hits, two walks and two wild pitches.

Oddfellows got the tying run in the top of the sixth, pinch-hitter Steve Bishop scoring after walking.

That set the stage for the unusual winning run.

Tonight at the Little League park, North Kiwanis will meet Rotary.

Line score follows:

		R.	H.	E.
Oddfellows	211 001—	5	5	4
Gyros	100 401—	6	5	3

Combines Win

Capitalizing on eight errors, Combines defeated Oak Bay, 11-5, in a Juvenile Amateur Baseball League contest at Macdonald Park Tuesday night.

Stan Smith, batting at a .538 clip, was again the big sticker for the winners with two singles and a homer. Harman also blasted a four-bagger for the winners.

BROOKLYN—Ralph Tiger Jones, 154, Yonkers, N.Y., outpointed Rocky Tomasello, 158, Elizabeth, N.J., 10.

THREE-DIMENSIONAL FILM SHOWS WALCOTT DIDN'T HAVE LEG TO STAND ON

Joe Was Just "a Settin'" There

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—About the only thing one can conclude after watching the three-dimensional films of the Rocky Marciano-Joe Walcott fiasco is that television and its millions of free-loading devotees were victims of a diabolical conspiracy.

Before they strap you into your seat and clamp spaceship goggles over your eyes, the film people announce sneeringly that you will first see what the great TV audience saw, ha-ha. As a build-up for what is to follow, this is tremendous.

In the first place, our timing indicates that nine out of 10 hosts were moving toward the kitchen when Walcott went down. The action had been slow and unexciting, and with only 45 seconds left of the round it looked like a smart time to stoke up.

Those who did happen to be gazing at their screens saw Walcott retreating toward them, back first, and then they saw him sit down suddenly, as though he had tripped over a wire. By the time they awakened to the sad situation, they had, indeed, received a short count.

The film will remove any doubt in your mind that Old Folks got well and truly hit. In slow motion you will see Marciano throw a beauty of a one-two—a left swing high on the cheek followed by a crushing right to the jaw packing every ounce of his weight behind it. Rocky, himself, called it an uppercut, but through our poloroids it looked like a horizontal one, more like a right cross.

You'll see Walcott just a "settin" there, his right glove grasping the rope and his eyes staring at nothing in particular. The referee, incidentally, is shown to be tolling exactly in unison with the knock-down timekeeper, whose arm can be seen rising and falling in the foreground.

Some think they see Walcott stir slightly at around five. We didn't, nor at eight, which the referee calls especially loud, as though seeking to rouse the stricken fighter. Finally, an instant after the arbiter's arm has descended on 10, you will see Walcott spring to his feet and stray somewhat uncertainly toward his own corner.

Only one thing the pictures will not tell you—whether Joe could have gotten up sooner and continued the fight. Our personal opinion at the time was, and still is, that he was helpless, and that it would have been dangerous to have let Rocky hit him again.

Take Undisputed Softball Lead

Students 19, Navy 3

For the second game in a row, Chinese Students got a lot of mileage out of their base hits when they thoroughly trounced the Navy 19-3 in a Senior A Men's Softball League game at Central Park Tuesday night.

By winning, Students moved into undisputed possession of first place, two points ahead of Navy and Butler's Aces.

Last Friday night the Students had a field day at the expense of Capital City Gasmen, winning 15-4, and they continued their heavy work at the plate Tuesday with a total of 18 hits off starter George Kinch and Rene Lapointe, who came in to pitch in the third inning.

Coupled with Kinch's effort, the Students now show a total of 34 runs and 33 hits for two games, which is well above par in any man's league.

Kinch just didn't have it Tuesday. The Students opened with six runs in the first inning after Navy scored a singleton in the top of the frame.

Students cooled off in the second inning and only scored one, but in the third they chased Kinch after two runs and two hits, and continued to hit the slants of reliefer Lapointe to score another run before the side was retired.

They moved ahead 11-1 in the fourth. The bluejackets doubled their run total in the fifth when Mel Padgett led off with a home run.

BIG INNING

The league leaders sent a total of 11 batters to the plate in the sixth and plated six runs on seven hits as base runners ran wild on some loose defensive play by Navy.

Bernie Sam, who has replaced the injured Jimmy John at first base, continued to get his base hits. He had four for five to add to the three hits he picked up on Friday.

Tommy Derr also had four for five including a double. Right fielder George Brown of the Students was on base five straight times and scored four runs on three walks and two hits.

Bud Ross picked up the mound win, his second of the season, while Kinch was charged with the loss.

GAME THURSDAY

There is no senior A action in Central Park until Thursday night when Butler Bros. Aces meet Chinese Students. Game time is 6.30.

Short score follows:

Navy	100 010 010—	3	9	6
Chinese Students	613 106 20x—	19	18	2

BIG ENTRY EXPECTED FOR B.C. PREP MEET

The Provincial High School track and field championships, to be held May 29 and 30 at the Victoria High Gyro cinder track, is expected to draw a large entry from all points of the province.

Laurie Wallace, athletic director of Victoria High, has announced that entries have already been received for the meet, being held here for the third successive year.

Wallace expects entries from St. Louis College early this week, but doesn't expect the bulk of the entries to arrive until later.

Mark Waldron and Burnett Wood of Woodfibre, B.C., have filed entries. Wood was the winner of the B.C. mile event last season while Waldron has entered the 100 yards, 440 yards and shot put events.

Nanaimo Protests Pilsener Victory

Pilseners 16, Nanaimo 7

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nanaimo Native Sons lodged a formal protest with the Intercity Lacrosse League commission Tuesday night, following their 16-7 defeat by Vancouver Pilseners at Kerrisdale Arena.

Nanaimo manager Blair Cook said the refereeing by Gordy Folka and Bill Dickinson was "very unfair." Sons received 29 minutes in penalties, Pilseners 30, the highest game total on the mainland this season.

Four fights marked the game, all coming in the last half. Pilseners' Fred Whittaker required nine stitches on a forehead gash after getting clipped by Nanaimo's Lyle Scott. Scott had his turn later when he was cross-checked by Sam Sakich and received a badly cut lower lip.

Nanaimo, playing their third game in four nights, took a 3-1 lead in the first quarter and were still pressing before penalties caught up with them. Vancouver's next two goals came while Sons were a man short.

Nanaimo was blanked in the second quarter as Vancouver took a 5-3 half-time lead. Pilseners outscored the visitors 8-3 in the third and 3-1 in the fourth.

Vic High Takes Lead In Inter-High Track

Victoria High School athletes got away to a good start in the seventh annual Inter-High School track and field meet which opened at the Fernwood institution Tuesday and, at conclusion of the day, held a five-point lead over runner-up Mount View High.

Vic High garnered 21½ points, Mount View 16½, Oak Bay 14½ and Esquimalt 12½. Mount Douglas was far behind with one point.

COUNCIL MAY ENDORSE B.E.G. SCULLING PROPOSAL

First steps in an effort to bring the British Empire Games rowing events to Vancouver Island were taken Tuesday.

James Bay Rowing Club coach Norm Edmonds met with members of city council and his suggestions were received favorably.

Edmonds was instructed to write a letter of invitation to the B.E.G. committee and forward it to city council for endorsement. Possible payment of expenses for competitors in the rowing events will be discussed at a later council sitting.

The games committee is interested in holding the events at Langford Lake if that site meets specifications.

PHILS TAKE NL LEAD

Brooks Push Braves Down

Now the folks in Milwaukee know what the rest of the National League fans found out a long time ago—as guests Brooklyn's Dodgers leave a lot to be desired.

Before 36,439, the largest crowd ever to pay its way to a sports event in the Wisconsin metropolis, the Dodgers slapped down the Braves 4-1 Tuesday night and knocked them out of a first-place tie in the National League.

The victory was only the second for the Dodgers in seven road games.

After five scoreless innings, Andy Pafko put the Braves ahead by singling home Eddie Mathews.

George Shuba wiped out the lead with a home run after Jackie Robinson walked.

The Braves brought in Max Surkont to pitch in the eighth and the Dodgers greeted him with two more runs on Duke Snider's third homer of the season—a blast over the centrefield fence that scored Peewee Reese.

While the Braves went down, Philadelphia Phillies went up. Robin Roberts checked Cincinnati Red Legs 6-3 for his sixth victory against two defeats and moved the Phils one full game in front of the Braves.

St. Louis Cardinals edged Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 and the improved New York Giants won their third in a row, a 6-4 decision over Chicago Cubs in 10 innings.

YANKS WIN

Hank Bauer homered in the 11th inning with a man on base to give New York Yankees a 4-2 triumph over Detroit Tigers. White Sox lost their second in a row, a two-hit 2-1 verdict to Harry Byrd and Philadelphia Athletics. The loss pushed the Sox two games back of the pace-setting Yankees.

Boston Red Sox defeated St. Louis Browns 4-3. Cleveland's game with the Senators at Washington was postponed because of rain.

Roberts was in trouble in only one inning at Cincinnati. With two out in the third, Willard Marshall smashed a home run with a man on base and Ted Kluszewski followed with a bases-empty drive. The Red Legs got only three other hits. Richie Ashburn and Willie Jones homered for the Phils.

Junior Cricket

The date of the junior intercity cricket match between Victoria boys and Vancouver boys for the Cameron Cup has been brought forward from June 8 to Sunday, May 24. It will be played at Beacon Hill oval starting at 2. An alteration will be made in the league games for next week-end and announced later.

Champ in Narrow Win

TOKYO (AP) — World flyweight champion Yoshie Shiral Monday night came out of a maelstrom of Filipino fists the winner by a slim margin over tiny Tanny Campo of Manila.

It was so close that a few hundred of the 35,000 Japanese and foreigners who sat through the chill mist for the 15-round title fight hurled seat cushions into the ring after the decision.

GOOD THROW—NO DOUGH

Coast League Clubs Play to 2,760 Fans

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — "Good throw—no dough" is the way Mike Gonzalez, the old St. Louis Card, might sum up Tuesday's Pacific Coast Leage activity.

Top flight pitching performances were turned in by such journeymen hurlers as Al Widmar, Bill Padget, Al Lien, George Bamberger and Charley Schanz. But a total of only 2,760 fans attended the three parks which were open for business.

A chilled crowd of 684 turned out to see Widmar blank the Seals with a four-hitter as the Suds won, 1-0, to retain their 3½-game margin over second-place Los Angeles.

Down in City of the Angels, a brave little handful of 1,700 fans invaded cavernous Wrigley Field (capacity 25,000) as Padget also tossed a four-hitter to beat Sacramento, 3-0.

The Emeryville ball park hosted 906 as George Bamberger puzzled the fence-butting Padres with three hits until the ninth inning. He gave up three more then, including a homer, but still was in charge all the way as the Acorns teed off for a 12-3 romp.

Bennett Gagging Other Socreds, Straith Claims

Propagandists Hired City Liberal Says

"Premier Bennett wouldn't allow his 'hot gospel' members to speak on the floor of the legislative assembly, and he won't let his candidates speak on the air," William T. Straith, Victoria City Liberal candidate, charged at a meeting in Liberal headquarters Tuesday night.

"Instead, they hire paid propagandists to speak for them. Any woman listening in her kitchen will have a good idea of how lavishily they are spending money on this type of advertising.

Social Crediters, he said, are apparently afraid to call themselves a "party," instead, they say it's a "movement."

"If this is a movement, it has all the earmarks of a political party," he remarked. "Have you ever heard of a party spending more money on a campaign? No party in the history of this province has spent so much money on all media of advertising."

DIRTIEST YET

He said that he and his fellow-candidates in Victoria, Mrs. Nancy Hodges and Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, had agreed at the outset they would contribute nothing to a "smear campaign." But, he stated, "this has turned into the dirtiest smear campaign in provincial history."

One of the smears, he said, was the charge that previous governments had passed "secret orders-in-council."

"There is no such thing as a secret order-in-council. All are subject to the supervision of the leader of the opposition," he explained. "They are open to his perusal, they can be released by him to the press."

Mr. Straith said there were several types of orders-in-council considered personal, and, since the time of Sir Richard McBride, withheld from "public gossip."

As examples, he cited transfer of prisoners from one jail to another; transfer of industrial home inmates to senior institutions; changes of venue under the Lunacy Act, and orders-in-council authorizing payment of three months' salary to the widows of civil servants.

A ROUTINE BUSINESS

"I doubt if any person would relish publicity on these matters," he said. "And there are also scores of orders-in-council which simply carry out the routine business of government.

"I repeat, no order-in-council is a secret order-in-council."

Capt. Proudfoot, who shared the platform with Mr. Straith, also spoke of the Social Credit "smear campaign," using a spokesman employed on the radio to "make his own statements."

"How can you tie the Social Credit candidates down," he asked, "when they won't go on the air personally? Their radio broadcasts state 'opinions expressed were those of the speaker.'"

Capt. Proudfoot refuted claims he said were made by Premier Bennett that the Federal Government took $239,000,000 from B.C. under the federal-provincial tax agreement, and returned only $42,000,000.

Surprise Woman Candidate in Premier Bennett's Riding

A surprise woman candidate to battle Premier W. A. C. Bennett in the British Columbia general election June 9 provided the highlight at the close of official nominations Tuesday.

Mrs. E. C. Weddel, Kelowna housewife and grandmother, filed papers for the Progressive Conservative party in South Okanagan, making a four-way fight for the constituency of the Social Credit premier.

"I'll give Mr. Bennett a good run for his money," said Mrs. Weddell, wife of a barrister for 31 years.

A record total of 229 candidates will fight for the 48 seats when voters go to the polls June 9 for the second time in less than a year to elect a provincial government. The total of candidates for the last election was 212.

Social Credit and Liberal parties filed full slates.

MORE THAN 20 WOMEN

Throughout the province, there are more than 20 female standard-bearers. Prominent is Mrs. Tilly Rolston, education minister.

The CCF entered all ridings except Fernie, held for the last 33 years by Labor member Tom Uphill, who is running again. The Progressive Conservatives placed 38 candidates.

The Christian Democrats, making a second appearance in a campaign, named 14 candidates. The party announced earlier it is for minority rights for education and thus would support the separate school aims of the Roman Catholic Church.

26 COMMUUISTS

The Labor Progressive (Communist) party has named 26 candidates, one-third of them women, mostly in the urban areas.

Two native Indian candidates include Frank A. Calder, who was the first Indian to be elected to a Canadian legislature when he was successful for the CCF in Atlin riding in 1949. Frank Assu, an Indian, is opposing him for the Socreds.

KOSHER STRIP TEASE

Frankfurters Go Doggy With Zippers

BY H. D. QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) — Every city has a haunting beauty of its own. Where, for instance, but New York could you find frankfurters with zippers on them? Where, indeed? Genius dwells here.

The hot dog with the zipper in the middle has been on the market little more than a week. Already the demand among consumers who hanker for quick and easy shucking is such that production of the easily-undressed dogs has doubled.

The zipper is built in. It runs the length of the hot dog. Those who wish to eat their frankfurters peeled merely pull a nylon string. This unzips, or unravels, down the middle of the hot dog, taking a strip of the casing with it and leaving a gap a quarter-inch wide. Thus, the naked dog can be plucked from its clothing with no fuss.

Persons who prefer eating their frankfurters with the skins on can go right ahead and do so with this new model —either first removing the nylon, or, perhaps, leaving it zipped in and taking a chance that it might come in handy later as dental floss.

The hot dogs thus accoutered are Kosher, all-beef, hickory-smoked. Now, a Kosher frankfurter has a much thicker skin than a regular frankfurter. Therefore there is more likelihood that the eater will wish to doff the jacket. It is estimated (by the makers of the zipfurters) that 60 to 70 per cent of Kosher hot dog eaters do so.

"We had been working on this idea for a long time," said Benjamin Skollar, office manager of the Consumers Kosher Provisions Co., makers of the new hot dog. "There seemed to be a feeling that if there was a way of getting the casing off, things would be much easier for the consumer."

Skollar said that under normal peeling methods, the jacket comes off in five or six pieces but with the zipper it sheds neatly and whole.

DIEFENBAKER FORECASTS, CRITICIZES AUGUST VOTE

OTTAWA (BUP)—John Diefenbaker, who will attempt to win a 20-year Liberal stronghold for the Progressive Conservatives in the next federal election, said flatly Tuesday night there would be an August vote and made it clear his party did not approve.

Diefenbaker, nominated Saturday as the Progressive Conservative candidate in Prince Albert, Sask., made the prediction on the national free-time political broadcast, 'The Nation's Business."

He said an August election "will have to disenfranchise many Canadians and the responsbility of causing that result must rest upon the government." He said it was a busy time for farmers and a holiday period for others.

Diefenbaker strongly attacked the government's taxation and trade policies and what he called its "gold-plated mentality" on spending.

London-Bound, St. Laurent Names Four New Senators

OTTAWA (CP).—Prime Minister St. Laurent left Ottawa Tuesday for the Coronation and a London conference of Commonwealth prime ministers. His departure was marked by announcements of a series of cabinet decisions, including appointment of four new senators.

The prime minister, who sails from New York Thursday, told reporters the Coronation is the "real object" of his trip. At the ensuing conference, he said, he hopes Canada can help in expanding world trade.

The new senators are Premier Walter Jones, of Prince Edward Island, 75; Mrs. Marianna Beauchamp Jodoin, 71, of Montreal; Mrs. Muriel McQueen Fergusson, 54, Fredericton, and Allan L. Wodrow, 67, of Toronto.

Other cabinet decisions, made during the holiday week-end and announced as Mr. St. Laurent left, included:

1. Appointment of Dr. Albert W. Trueman, 51, president of the University of New Brunswick, as the new commissioner of the National Film Board. He succeeds W. Arthur Irwin, 55, expected to leave Canada next month as the new high commissioner to Australia.

2. Proclamation today of the International Rapids Power Development Act of 1951, by which the federal government turns over to Ontario the right to develop Canada's share of hydro power in the international section of the St. Lawrence River.

Government officials and others were on hand as Mr. and Mrs. St. Laurent boarded their private railway car. In the car was a bouquet of 45 roses, marking their 45th wedding anniversary Tuesday. They were accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Frank Lafferty, of Montreal.

The prime ministed told reporters that at the prime ministers' conference from June 3-9, Canada would make her "usual contribution," but he said he has no specific proposion to present.

The Senate appointments filled four of the record 23 vacancies in the Upper House. They were the first appointments since early in 1951.

The Liberals will hold 75 seats in the 102-member Senate at the next Parliament unless the prime minister makes further appointments. There are eight Progressive Conservative senators.

Of the 19 present vacancies, six are in Quebec, five in Ontario, four in New Brunswick, and one each in Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, Manitoba and British Columbia.

Socred's Attitude On BCHIS Scored

'Compound of 'Confusion and Falsehood' CCF Candidate Tells Oakland School Meeting

The 'Socreds' attitude on hospital insurance was labelled a "compound of confusion and falsehood" by Colin Cameron, CCF candidate for Victoria, in Oaklands School Tuesday night.

"I can't understand why anyone will support a party whose chief claim for allegiance—that of good Christian government, is based on a platform of falsehoods," Mr. Cameron told an audience of 21 people.

He gave a quick resume of all party platforms in the June 9 election but reserved his sharpest attack for the Socreds as he held aloft their election bulletin of claimed accomplishments.

On the Socred claim of reducing the provincial public debt by $23,000,000, Mr. Cameron said this was done "automatically" under authority of a 20-year-old statute.

QUESTIONS CLAIMS

On the Socred claim of paying for capital public works out of savings and current income, Mr. Cameron "doubted" they could save the reputed $41,000,000 "for the people" since coming to office last August. "If true," he said the money was "there from preceding governments."

"A completely false statement" was his comment on the claim of amendments made to the male and female Minimum Wage Act. He said the act was not opened at the last session.

On pay-as-you-go plans for public works, Mr. Cameron stated.

"I take sharp issue when they say it is possible or feasible to mulct the present day for all expenditures of the future."

Of the Socred's claim to allotting $20,000,000 for hydro-electric power development, the speaker remarked: "Another routine procedure that has been taking place ever since the Electric Power Act."

B.C.E. SUBSIDY

"There is no suggestion by the Socreds to move into the areas of high revenue and low cost, however, such as Victoria, Vancouver and the Fraser Valley," Mr. Cameron said. "The B.C. Power Commission is still subsidizing the B.C.E."

Mrs. May Campbell and Victor Allen, Mr. Cameron's running mates in Victoria, also spoke.

"The PC offer of free milk to every school child is an insult to the people of B.C." said Mrs. Campbell. "Why was it not offered during the depression when children lacked sufficient energy to play? What bait?"

Mr. Allen charged that Premire W. A. C. Bennett is playing one area against another on the education controversy resulting from charges by J. Alan Reid of Salmon Arm.

"He's not putting any facts before you."

CHURCHILL GOVERNMENT MISSES DEFEAT BY FOUR-VOTE MARGIN

LONDON (BUP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill's government had its closest squeeze in the 19 months it has been in power Tuesday night when the House of Commons defeated a Labor amendment on a financial bill by a majority of only four votes.

The Conservatives won their four-vote majority—the lowest majority they have registered since elected in October, 1951, on a clause-by-clause debate of a government finance bill.

Government leaders were able to muster only enough members to defeat a Labor amendment granting exemptions to amateur entertainment from taxes by a vote of 272 to 268.

Usually the government has an overall majority of approximately 70 votes.

MILK, EDUCATION OCCUPY SAANICH

200 Residents Shoot Questions at Four Candidates Seeking Election on June 9

Milk decontrol and education costs dominated a meeting at South Saanich Institute Hall Tuesday night when almost 200 residents shot questions at all four candidates seeking election in Saanich June 9. The meeting was sponsored by the South Saanich Farmers' Institute.

Speakers were Frank Snowsell, CCF; John D. Tisdalle, Social Credit; Arthur Ash, Liberal, and Mrs. Nora Lindsay, Progressive Conservative.

Each was granted 15 minutes for an address, a question period, five minutes of rebuttal, and more questions.

The bulk of the questions concerned milk, and were reserved for the Social Credit choice, Mr. Tisdalle.

"Greater heads than mine have gone into the decontrol problem," he said. "I can see the merits of decontrol, but no one can say for certain what will happen except that people who will carry their milk home from a store will pay two cents less for it."

He also claimed that increasing consumption always brings about increased production and market facilities.

"We have not begun to enter the field of increasing consumption through technical aids," he said.

He defended the government's attitude toward milk decontrol by saying that dairymen had wished the Milk Board to stay in operation, and that the board favored the decontrol.

"Decontrol was purely a political issue and it back-fired," said Liberal Mr. Ash in rebuttal. "The issue was rejected in 1951 when Safeway asked to sell milk in its stores."

"The shadow of Tilly Rolston is right behind decontrol," he said. "She wanted cheaper milk for Vancouver, and didn't care what the consequences were. At least four dairymen's associations opposed decontrol before the cabinet, and while they were speaking, notices were in the mails that decontrol would be instituted."

"The cabinet did not even tell the representatives the notices were out," he said.

He supported the 50-50 apportionment of education costs between the province and school districts, and agreed with Mr. Snowsell on the "evils of the Rolston formula."

"It only looks good on the surface," he warned.

Snowsell Opposes Rolston Formula

Mr. Snowsell opposed the Rolston formula because, he said, it froze education grants according to 1952 school budgets which varied widely in their per-pupil expenditures.

"It would have cost Saanich a two-mill tax increase," he said, "and this would be cumulative because Saanich is growing in comparison to Victoria, which is not."

"The CCF believes in the recommendations of the Cameron report that based grants on teachers' salaries, number of pupils, and transportation costs," he said.

"The flaw in the system was that grants were set in 1946 and costs have risen," he said. "We would work this problem out with the B.C. Teachers' Federation, Union of B.C. Municipalities, and PTA groups. They are the people who know the problem."

Mrs. Lindsay said her efforts for Saanich would include the release of farm lands from the burden of education costs.

"Farmers are willing to pay their share," she said, "but a farmer must have a lot of land to make an adequate income and assessment on land is 100 per cent."

"Land is the farmer's tool of industry," she said, "and no one else is taxed on his way of living."

Mrs. Lindsay said she favored maintaining of the ban on California wines for the protection of local berry growers, and the institution of an over-all system of irrigation.

"Many farmers are working on their own," she said. "I'm sure if farm groups could confer with government representatives that a solution to the irrigation problem could be found."

Albert Doney was chairman.

Cayuga, U.S. Sub In Manoeuvres Off Victoria

The United States Balao class submarine USS Scabbardfish and the Pacific Command destroyer HMCS Cayuga carried out manoeuvres in Juan de Fuca Strait, between Race Rocks and Discovery Island, Tuesday.

It was Cayuga's first "work-out" with a submarine since extensive re-fit and re-armament at HMC Dockyard.

Scabbardfish arrived at the RCN Esquimalt base Monday afternoon, and will be here until the week-end. She was built in 1944, and is one of the larger U.S. subs, displacing 1,526 tons. She is 311 feet long, and mounts six 21-inch torpedo tubes forward and four aft.

AIRCRAFTS LEAD RALLY AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced today with aircrafts starting the ball rolling in the rally.

Other major sections of the market followed in the rise, especially railroads, steels and motors.

Other activity was at a minimum. Prices ranged narrowly either way.

Quibbles Block Good Effects of U.S. Tariff Policy

MONTREAL (BUP)—Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, attacked United States' tariff policies today and cited one case where ping pong balls for toy guns were classified as ammunition and charged 95 per cent duty.

In an address prepared for delivery to the Second International Credit Conference, Towers said such "obstructions" were hampering the flow of world trade and threatened western security.

"There is a popular illusion that the reductions in the U.S. tariffs made in recent years have done all that is necessary to open U.S. markets to traders of the world," Towers said.

"Tariffs are still a major obstacle, but many traders feel that tariff concessions can have little effect so long as administrative obstacles, partly unintentional partly otherwise, effectively block entrance to foreign goods."

Towers said the ping pong balls actually belonged to a category in which a 10 per cent duty was levied.

"These are the sort of obstructions which have a serious effect in hampering world recovery, and deny to the U.S. the advantages sought in the grants intended to stimulate recovery (in Western Europe)," he said.

"Not only is harm done to friendly nations abroad, but the United States suffers directly through failing to take advantage of low-cost sources of goods."

He said Europe required the co-operation of financially stronger countries and "the most important from which co-operation could take would be measures to ensure a readier access to North American markets."

ELDORADO SHIPMENTS MOVE SOON

New Ore-Dressing Process on Test

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA. — Shipments from the Eldorado uranium mine at Beaverlodge will start down the Athabaska River as soon as navigation on the lake opens up about June 1.

The federal government's Eldorado plant has started processing at a rate which is expected to work up to around 500 tons per day. Total daily production of the mine cannot be disclosed.

The processed ore is being stockpiled in readiness for the opening of navigation on Lake Athabaska.

MOSTLY FOR HOUSING

Capital expenditures program during 1953, exclusive of expenditures for projects started in 1952, is estimated at $1,500,000. The bulk of this will be for the provision of additional living accommodation and ancillary services, oil storage and mine equipment.

Total number of employees at the Beaverlodge operation is between 350 and 400. Labor turnover has continued at a high rate due largely to the shortage of satisfactory accommodation during the construction period.

A research program was started last year by the department of mines and technical surveys in the hope that improvements could be made in the Beaverlodge ore-dressing process. On the basis of the results obtained from the small scale testing of a modified process it was decided to undertake pilot plant operation.

This work began in Ottawa in March of this year. If the results of the investigation confirm the laboratory results it should be possible to reduce the capital and operating cost of the new concentrator capacity, officials said.

BUSINESS CAPSULE

By E. McLEAN, Times Business Editor

Political Uncertainty Breeds Fear in Businessmen

Whether it be an owner-operated $3,000 corner grocery or a multi-million dollar enterprise employing thousands, business thrives only in favorable economic and political climates.

Do these climates exist in B.C. today?

At this moment there are a few bright spots on B.C.'s business horizon—but there are lots of black clouds. Some are no bigger than a man's hand (or a politician's rantings on the hustings). They're there, though, and could become thunderheads.

Businessmen are uncertain about the future, in both politics and economics. Uncertainty breeds worry and an ultra-cautious approach to present and future activities.

How can the milk distributing trade's managers take responsibility for plowing shareholders' funds back into the business when they can't even guess at what the future holds? Milk decontrol is on and off again like Flanagan's fighting shirt.

Robbing businessmen of sleep are statements such as that made at Duncan last week by CCF leader Arnold Webster. If elected, said Mr. Webster, his party would take over B.C. Electric, the breweries and, in time, Alcan. Only the "big fellows" would be nationalized. But nationalization of any kind implies hostility to profit-making, and thus forecasts restrictive legislation against business. Profits of B.C. businesses today are mighty skimpy per dollar invested; pared much more they wouldn't be worth the candle.

Additional Burdens for Business

Also worrying thoughtful businessmen are the implications of proposed taxes on forest and mining industries, the tax assessment equalization plan and a handful of other legislation announced by the Socred government at the recent session. Most of these seem to put only the businessman and investor behind the eight-ball.

The proposed imposts on forestry and mining enterprises are unrealistic in the light of current market and operating conditions.

Mining industry already is depressed by lower world market prices, increased wages, higher freight rates, upsurging capital costs. More taxes now might be a death blow.

Forest industry, B.C.'s chief pay-cheque producer, is in similar straits. Of course, it can be argued the Socreds' new forest taxes chiefly will rob the Federal treasury and that the actual impact upon forest industry will be much less than appears on the surface. That is true only as long as present Federal taxes and rules remain the same. But coupled with current IWA wage negotiations, the prospect of additional tax burdens isn't encouraging new capital or reinvestment in forest industries.

Broader in implications and effects is Bill 45 with its provision to assess machinery, equipment and fixtures for school-tax purposes. Its effect must be to place on businesses of all sizes a larger portion of the cost of education. Selling-prices today are retreating while wages and operating costs still are advancing, although more slowly. Only place any added burden can fall is on profits. Profits in B.C. businesses, whether corner grocery or industrial empire, just can't stand an extra bite.

There are other factors, real or threatening, worrying B.C. businessmen. Though the climate is not yet changed, it seems to be changing. While not wholly responsible, this condition is partly to blame for investment capital's swing away from B.C. Today's multi-million dollar developments that will transform wildernesses into busy cities are taking place, or are scheduled, in Ontario, Quebec and Newfoundland. Too few British Columbians realize the extent of the industrial boom in the east. If they did, they'd be deeply concerned about the position of business in B.C. today and in the future.

Some Marking Time Until June 9

British Columbia must have local and foreign capital to keep its economy strong and forward-moving. It must have healthy, expanding businesses of all types and sizes if its people are to have continuous and sufficient pay-cheques. B.C. won't get these things unless business is permitted a reasonable security in which to work out its destiny.

Business, whether it be "big" or "little," asks no more than a square shake. It expects to have to pay a fair share of the cost of government, it expects to be reasonably regulated for the common good, it expects that it never will see the day when all in its garden is lovely.

Today there are a great many businessmen and investors who contend business isn't getting a square shake and who fear the future in B.C. could be unhappier yet. While this aura of discontented uncertainty overhangs the British Columbian scene caution is their keynote and in a good many categories business is marking time, waiting to see what June 9 will bring.

Nearly two million dollars' worth of subsidized rental housing will be built in Vancouver's Little Mountain area. Cost of 242 units will average $8,880. Federal government will provide 75 per cent of capital, provincial treasury remainder. Vancouver city will pay 12½ per cent of gap between economic rental ($69.40) and the $45 per month to be charged tenants. Operating loss expected to be $70,000 annually, at a minimnm. Pyke & White Construction, lowest of five bidders, will get the contract.

Dedicated to "Our North Country," the 29th Pacific Northwest Trade Association conference at Tacoma Monday and Tuesday confined itself to the problems and development of Alaska, the Yukon, and northern B.C., George I. Warren reported today. He and Deputy Trade Minister E. G. Rowebottom were among the 300 delegates from the area between the California border and Fairbanks, Alaska. Two British Columbians—Senator Gray Turgeon of Cariboo and Hon. H. H. Stevens of Vancouver — were among the conference's featured speakers. Ralph D. Baker of Vancouver presided at the sessions.

Dominion Stores Ltd. sales reached a new peak at $120,646,715 last year, 20.9 per cent above the 1951 total. Net earnings were $2,077,038, which represetns $1.64 per share or 1.72 cents per dollar of sales. Dividends paid to shareholders totaled $661,533 or 52½ cents per share while income tax payments were $2,160,000 or 1.71 per share.

'SECOND LOOK PARTY'

Liberal Leader Hits At Socred Confusion

Special to the Times

QUESNEL.—Public confusion between cabinet ministers over milk price decontrol, the Rolston formula for school financing and new taxes on basic industries, has made Social Credit "the second look party," Arthur Laing, new Liberal leader, said in a campaign speech here.

"They have been beaten into retreat on the Rolston Formula," he said. He quoted Premier Bennett as saying they'd stand or fall on the Formula, Tillie Rolston as saying they will "go back for a second look" if it didn't work, and Health Minister Eric Martin as saying it was only intended to be used for a year anyway.

He said the premier and Agriculture Minister Kiernan had contradicted one another on milk control. Finance Minister Gunderson, he said, was calling for higher mining and forestry taxes.

"If we don't get into a better political position," Laing added, "we shall soon be in a worse economic situation.

"Sometimes when I look at Victoria I think the giants have departed and the pygmies have taken over, but unless we achieve dignity and responsibility in the House, we shall soon be able to get only people of small stature to offer themselves for office."

Laing said flatly that Liberal policy was to continue the compulsory feature of BCHIS, "without which it will not work." but the Liberals would remove co-insurance.

Earlier in the day at Williams Lake, he told an audience in this PGE-conscious region that the controversial railroad would be completed from Prince George to the Peace River first, and then extended from Squamish to Vancouver "as soon as possible and by the best available route."

GUNDERSON EVASIVE ON BCHIS PLAN

Admits Compulsory Payment Under Act

Finance Minister Einar Gunderson wouldn't say yes or no on the question of compulsory . . . or voluntary . . . hospital insurance when he was questioned by a member of the Colwood Community Hall audience Tuesday night.

"Is it true," a young man asked, "that Social Credit promised in the last campaign to make hospital insurance voluntary?"

"Well," said the minister, "I wasn't in the last campaign.

"There have been a lot of rumors about that. I've asked the man who was supposed to have said it and he claims he didn't say it. The newspapers never reported him as saying it but some people say he did."

The questioner said he'd seen the promise of voluntary hospital insurance in Socred literature and what about it: was it voluntary or not?

"Well," said Mr. Gunderson, "it definitely is compulsory under the act."

"It's just that you're not prosecuting," replied the young man.

WON'T BE PINNED

"No, I wouldn't say that, although it's not my department," Mr. Gunderson said. "There are some people who have been unable to pay. The fellow who is out of a job, for instance, is being given a chance to get back on his feet and then catch up."

"So even though he's breaking the law, you're just going to wash it out," the questioner persisted.

"No, I didn't say that," Mr. Gunderson replied.

Another questioner wanted to know why he had to pay hospital insurance six months in advance when he might not live to benefit from it.

For the same reason people paid life insurance a year in advance and fire insurance three years in advance, the minister explained.

Speaking with Mr. Gunderson was Esquimalt Socred candidate Herbert Brunch, a former employee of hospital insurance service, who said it would take twice the staff to handle monthly payments from those in direct payment division.

Easing of Rent Controls Asked By Tory; CCF Charges Answered

Relaxation of government control of rents was urged Tuesday night by city Conservative candidate Bob Patch.

Sharing a platform at George Jay School with other city Tory candidates Art Chapman and Monty Drake, he told a questioner from the audience of 15 that controls are what is keeping rents up.

"Rent control has created hardships for landlords," he said. "Nobody is building homes for rental. The sooner the controls can be eased off there will be more accommodation and lower rents."

He struck back at statements he alleged were made recently by city CCF candidate Victor Allen.

"Victor Allen said 'the B.C. Federation of Trade and Industry can control any of the Liberal, Conservative or Social Credit parties. That is why they are backing them.' I deny that.

"There are no strings on us. The Liberals may be controlled from Ottawa, and if there is a string on the Socred party someone should pull it soon, for that bandwagon is headed for destruction," Mr. Patch said.

He also denied statements alleged to have been made by Mrs. May Campbell, another Victoria CCF candidate.

"She stated that the CCF was first formed by farmers whom she called the lowest paid workers in Canada. No one can tell me that there are any poor farmers.

"I visited the prairie recently travelled 150 miles past wheat farms with no houses on them All the farmers live in the city and drive to the farms. There are more Cadillacs there than in Victoria. I did see one 'poor man.' He only owned a new Buick. Another group of farmers come to work in a twin-engined monoplane," the speaker said.

He also accused the CCF of "planting trouble between workers and owners and making Communists" . . . and added that "capitalist ogres" no longer own industry . . . the workers own much of it, he argued. "Workmen have an equal right to buy stock in their companies."

Speaker Monty Drake said he would urge a five-day week for civil servants and the rights of collective bargaining. Art Chapman stressed the fact that election to office doesn't change a man, he is still one of the people. He promised only, "honesty and integrity."

You have no idea how trying it is to be campaign manager for the only admittedly canine candidate in this campaign.

Punch, the PFP (Punch for Premier) leader is supremely confident, but fears for his defeat dog me day and night.

The Candidate seems to feel all he need do is curl up in front of the fire and look handsome.

I will admit he is both a gay and a handsome dog, and a real popularity hound; but, as campaign manager, it is my duty to make him Get Up and Go.

So I tried the scornful approach last night. "What have you done so far to win votes?" I demanded. "Why, you haven't even produced a campaign song," I said.

The Candidate yawned, proving he could get his teeth into the matter if need be. Oh, yes, I do so have a campaign song, the Candidate said. My campaign song is "Let Me Collie Sweetheart."

"You don't even know which side your bred is buttered on," I sneered. "Besides which, what is a Candidate going to do without a party?"

A party? said the Candidate. I am all for a party. You bring the bones, I'll bring my friends, and we'll have a party.

"I mean a political party," I explained, patiently.

The Candidate was scornful. Now I know why you are called The Old Man, he said. It must be a very Old Man indeed who still refers to Political Parties. Why, said the Candidate, everyone knows that this year they are Political Movements. Get Hep, said the Candidate.

"All right, then," I said, in some exasperation. "Call it a movement. Can you stand there and say YOU have a

I, said the Candidate, with simple dignity, have a very active movement behind me.

In fact, said the Candidate, I have had this movement behind me ever since I was born. Although I will admit, the Candidate added, I would not have this movement behind me now if you had let That Man cut it off when I was but a pup.

The Candidate then proceeded to prove his point, although it is rather unfortunate that when Punch signifies friendliness in the manner he has inherited from his ancestors, there is apt to be a great crashing of ash trays, ornaments, and gim-cracks upon the floor.

The Candidate, as you may have gathered, is quite a wag.

Join the PFP (Punch for Premier) Party: No dues, no collections, no speeches, no responsibilities—no down payment, nothing per month, nothing to lose, nothing to win. In a word—nothing.

What other candidate is candid enough to make that statement?

Royal Standard Will Fly Here

The Queen's own standard will fly and a royal salute which may go to 42 guns will be fired from the park. A loyalty address will be read at the park by a member of the provincial government.

The Gorge regatta has its biggest entry list for any regatta since well before the war, according to Cmdr. G. H. Davidson, in charge of RCN arrangements.

Inboard and outboard motor boat races will provide thrills at Willows. One demonstration boat from Vancouver is expected to top the 100-mile-an-hour mark.

A feature will be the marathon race from the beach to the breakwater and return. A two-hour motorcycle rodeo will be staged at Macdonald Park.

A reputed half million dollars' worth of displays will be included in the crafts' exhibit.

Saanich Plans Parley to Avoid Strike

Hopes to Settle Dispute on Wages

Saanich council will meet officials of the Saanich Municipal Employees' Association at the municipal hall next Monday at 9 p.m. to discuss anew a wage and working agreement for some 150 employees.

Councillors agreed to reopen negotiations for wage contract with its municipal workers at a council meeting Tuesday. Association officials requested the meeting to "try to avert a strike" which would bring a tie-up to all public works projects in the municipality.

The employees recently voted 129 to 22 in favor of strike action to back demands for a general wage increase, which Saanich council has strongly opposed. They also rejected a majority conciliation board's recommendation which allowed for wage increases only to four categories of workers.

The prospects of a settlement appear remote. Only Councillor E. P. Cummins has expressed a wish, so far, to see everything done to bring the disputing parties to a "reasonable settlement."

"Everything should be done to avert a strike," said Mr. Cummins at the council meeting. "This is a serious matter and we should do all we can to come to an agreement."

15-Year-Old Asks Permit For Marriage

Steps have been taken to have a 15-year-old East Indian girl, living in Victoria, marry a 21-year-old man in East Punjab whom she has never seen.

Lawyer Gordon Cameron made application today before Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in Supreme Court chambers to have the court give authorization for a marriage between 15-year-old Sugjit Kaur, of 597 John Street, and Gian Singh, 21, living in Ghurial, India.

Mr. Cameron said the two wished to be wed as soon as possible but that the federal department of immigration would not give permission for Gian Singh to come to Canada unless it first had a declaration from court authorizing the marriage.

Dalel Singh and Banti, parents of the girl, have given their approval to the marriage.

The judge reserved his decision.

TORY LEADER ADVOCATES PLAN TO BOLSTER TRADE

Provincial Progressive Conservative Leader Deane Finlayson suggested at Penticton Tuesday night that a Commonwealth clearing bank be established to bolster Canadian trade.

"Right now we have all our trade eggs in one basket—the United States," he told a political rally here. "Unless we act fast to restore a balance—reverse the present trend and regain United Kingdom markets—we will find ourselves wihout markets when the United States reduces its—as it will.'

Finlayson also said a Progressive Conservative government in British Columbia would immediately launch a federal-provincial action to "stabilize and expand trade." "The export trade problem is just as much a British Columbia matter as it is a federal one," he said.

Finlayson had speaking engagements scheduled today at Kelowna, Vernon and Salmon Arm. He was due in Kamloops Thursday and then was to return to Vancouver for a swing up the Fraser Valley.

George MacDonald's Death Shocks City

City business circles were shocked to hear of the death in St. Joseph's Hospital today of George MacDonald, 49, president and managing director of MacDonald's Ltd.

Born in Windsor, N.S., he was educated at St. Boniface College, St. Boniface, Man., and at the University of Oregon at Eugene.

In 1931 he bought an electrical appliance business at Douglas and View Streets and began the combined business and social service career that made him known to thousands of Victorians, and additional thousands of service men who passed through Victoria during the Second World War.

He kept the Douglas Street premises until the post-war years, then moved to much larger quarters on Yates Street.

ACTIVE IN CHAMBER

Up to and during the war he was active in the Chamber of Commerce, having been a member of the chamber's board of directors, chairman of the retail merchants' section, chairman of the tourist trade group, and a director of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

During depression years here he organized and was master of ceremonies for several Christmas cheer fund shows that made Christmas dinner a reality for many poverty-stricken families.

During the war he became a tireless worker for the Knights of Columbus war service enterprises. He worked for the K of C army hut, organized a series of Saturday night programs for troops here, and by 1945 was named director of K of C war services for B.C.

Later the same year he was elected president of the national executive of the Knights of Columbus of Canada and Newfoundland, and to the board of management in charge of war services in Canada, England, Europe and Africa.

"As his business expanded, so did his heart," a close acquaintance said today.

SOUGHT TO RETIRE

Mr. MacDonald tried to retire more than once, but in spite of doctor's orders could not resist his work for public welfare.

Just over a year ago he telephoned a close friend from his hospital bed, where he had been ordered for complete relaxation, only to offer a generous subscription to help send the Jerry Gosley "Smile Show" to Korea.

Surviving are his widow, Elsie, at 1055 Portage Road; a daughter, Shirley, at college in Spokane; three brothers, Llewelyn (Lew) and J. J. (Pete), in Victoria, and Clarence, Seattle, and his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank MacDonald, Victoria.

Funeral service will be held Saturday at 9 a.m. at St. Andrew's Cathedral, to be followed by interment at Royal Oak. B.C. Funeral Chapel has charge of arrangementc.

Bail Denied Duncan Man on Murder Charge

Application for bail for Duncan logger Frank Homeniuk, charged with murder, was denied today by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in Supreme Court chambers here.

The application was made by David R. Williams, accused's counsel, on ground that evidence against his client, as disclosed at a coroner's inquest, was very weak and not likely to lead to conviction.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane held that the thing he had to bear in mind was whether Homeniuk, if granted bail, would appear on May 26, date of his preliminary hearing. Mr. Williams said he would; but the judge held that documentary evidence would be required before bail could be given.

Homeniuk is charged in connection with the death of logger Eric Lindstrom, whom he is alleged to have struck on a Duncan street corner May 10. Lindtrom died from brain hemorrhage.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane pointed out the way was open for a further application for bail if Homeniuk were committed for trial by the magistrate conducting the preliminary hearing.

Woman Injured When Struck On Cross-Walk

Driver Hurt in One Of Five Collisions

Out of a total of five collisions between Tuesday afternoon and this morning, two persons suffered injuries. But damage to automobiles involved was extensive.

A pedestrian, Marilyn Bellamy, 20, of 1567 Gladstone Avenue, was treated for bruises and lascerated legs at Royal Jubilee Hospital after she was knocked down by a car at Quadra and Pandora at 7.20 p.m. Tuesday.

Police said the injured woman was crossing Pandora in a cross-walk when she was struck by a car driven by Neil R. Stewart, 1156 Goodwin.

James Taylor Lee, 70, of 2625 Burdick was injured when the car he was driving collided with two parked cars at 3.09 p.m. Tuesday. He is in Victoria Veterans' Hospital.

Lee suffered lacerations to the scalp, chest injuries and abrasions to the left hand.

Police said the car he was driving collided with a parked vehicle owned by Dorothy V. Lee and Nancy Spiers, 1337 Rockland, in the 900 block of Burdett, and carried on to hit the parked car owned by Harry Ireland, 163 Bushby.

DAMAGE HEAVY

Heaviest damage occurred in Oak Bay. Drivers M. G. Gillespie, 2147 Windsor, and William E. Jones, 2032 Esplanade, escaped with northing worse than a shaking up, but about $1,500 damage was done to their cars when they collided at St. Ann and Bowker.

City traffic officers classed damage as medium when a truck and a BCE bus crashed at Vancouver and Fairfield at 9.20 a.m. today.

Police said the truck driver was John F. Sim, 3974 Douglas, the bus in charge of Kenneth F. Mawdsley, 3217 Quadra.

This was the third BCE bus to be involved in collisions since the start of the holiday weekend.

Cars driven by visitor Robert C. Mulligan, 310 E-152nd Street, Seattle, and Morris S. Quinn, 1421 Stadacona, were damaged when they collided at Quadra and Finlayson at 4.20 p.m. Tuesday, police reported.

Liberal Would Leave Milk Controls Alone

Liberals would not touch controls on milk without thorough investigation, Esquimalt Liberal candidate Geoffrey I. Edgelow said at Mill Bay Tuesday night.

He also promised that if the Liberals were elected a road to Port Renfrew would be a "certainty."

George Whittaker, North Cowichan councillor and logging operator, said he joined the CCF when he was young and "now I have a lot to make up for."

"Even if Socialism would give people the advantage of free enterprise, it could not be done without dictatorship," he said. "Every other man would be working for the government and pushing us around."

Salvation Army Drive Passes $15,000-Mark

The drive closes May 29.

Dairy Truck Spills Load

A cargo of bottled milk, eggs and butter was destroyed and about $1,000 damage was done to a dairy truck when it rolled over several times in a 30-foot plunge down an embankment in the Langford area at 6.30 a.m. today.

Driver of the Island Farms Dairies pick-up truck, Kenneth J. Sheppherd, Maddock Street, Victoria, crawled out of the wreckage with only a small cut on the top of the head and knee bruises.

He told officers of the RCMP Highway Patrol that in going around a curve on Atkins Road another car suddenly loomed up in front of him coming his way. Sheppherd said he swerved hard to the right, plunged down the embankment.

Young Builders Display Skills for Parent Group

Hammers, saws, calipers, micrometers and hundreds of stranger tools were plied vigorously for 500 visiting parents Tuesday night when technical students here held "open house."

The event was held at the F. T. Fairey Vocational and Technical Unit at Victoria High School.

For two and a half hours visitors thronged through work shops and classrooms where the student tradesmen exhibited their crafts.

One of the most gazed-at displays was the scale model of the Kiwanis Village project for elderly city couples. The work was undertaken by carpentry students who have volunteered to work on the actual homes during the fall term. They will earn school credits through their participation.

SOLD AT COST

A summer cabin built completely by Grade 11 students and wired by the school electrical classes was also shown. Head of the technical department, E. W. Lythgoe, told parents that the cabin had been sold at cost and would soon be removed by trailer to a beach location.

There were demonstrations by the blueprinting department and by the sheet metal work shop. Family cars were being repaired in the automotive shop before the eyes of the guests.

In the machine shop the centre of attraction was a half-inch capacity multi-speed drill press completely built by a class, except for some iron castings. The brass and aluminum castings were made by students in the school foundry.

An adult welding class which takes evening instruction was also in attendance. The class is held by the Department of National Defense and the Department of Labor. Mr. Lythgoe explained that graduates have mastered the very latest techniques and can be sure of defense jobs.

He added that supervising each of the various trades is a trade advisory committee composed of city contactors, union representatives and school board officials.

This group arranges for the boys to do actual work on cars and building projects and later assists the youths in gaining jobs after graduation. Mr. Lythgoe remarked that due to these committees there is usually little trouble in placing all of the school's graduates.

BENNETT ATTACK

with a group of schoolteachers who asked questions about his stand on the famous "Reid speech" during a question period.

A woman teacher asked him if he endorsed Mr. Reid's statement that teachers are socialistically-controlled and that immorality is being taught in textbooks.

Premier Bennett replied "no" to these questions and another teacher said he was not satisfied with the Premier's reply. The teacher noted Mr. Reid and Hugh Shantz of North Okanagan said the Premier endorsed the attack "in caucus" and Health Minister Martin had said, "where there's smoke, there's fire."

Premier Bennett appeared annoyed.

He noted the teachers were reading "well-prepared questions."

"I gave my replies as Premier of the province. That was the government's stand. I gave clear answers."

He then said he was "amazed" that the questioners would try and "throw suspicion on the government."

This brought applause, and some booing, from the crowd.

The teachers were afraid to give their names to reporters after the meeting.

Candidate Westwood, in a brief speech, said before he sought the Socred nomination he went to Victoria and had an hour-long talk with Premier Bennett.

"Premier Bennett made certain promises to me, and strange as it may seem, I believed him. I know they will be fulfilled," said Mr. Westwood.

He then went on to say the Socred government had started roadwork in the Nanaimo area.

At the outset of his speech the Premier said he made no promises during an election campaign, "but we will see that Nanaimo is looked after."

He explained public works projects coming up for Nanaimo, and said these are "not promises, but facts."

IMMIGRANTS GET CITY SPONSOR

Norwegians Sell Home to Settle Here

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jacob, 1925 Stanley Avenue, are helping a family from Norway to settle in Victoria.

A year ago the Jacobs heard of a family which wanted to come to Canada but who were a little nervous about taking the initial step which meant selling their home and all their possessions.

They wrote H. Stebeck, 50, of Sandefjord, and offered to provide him and his family with a temporary home until he was able to find a permanent place to live in the city.

Stebeck, a merchant marine officer, father of six children, accepted the offer and sailed for Canada. The family arrived in Montreal Tuesday and is expected here next week.

"We don't know anything about the family, except that some of the children are grown-up boys," said Mrs. Jacobs. "It took the family about 10 months to make all arrangements to come here."

Mrs. Jacobs said the trip cost the family of eight $2,000, which they financed from the sale of their home.

Final arrangements for extension of Victorian Order of Nurses' service into the district of View Royal, commencing June 1, were made at board of management meeting, Mrs. Dudley Markham, president, in the chair.

On the undertaking of View Royal Community Association to organize locally in order to supply any financial deficit, the VON will provide home care of medical, surgical, convalescent and chronically ill patients on a visit basis, for a trial period of one year.

On recommendation of Mrs. F. Norris, finance committee, it was found necessary to raise the fee per nursing visit in view of increasing costs, although the sliding scale in relation to circumstances will continue in effect.

Miss Gray gave summaries of the VON survey commission findings, and of proposed constitution for provincial organization of VON branches in British Columbia.

DR. MARTHA LAW
National president, addresses gathering.

Retiring president, Mrs. T. B. Williams, presided and seated with her at the head table were Dr. Martha Law, Toronto, Canadian Federation of University Women president; Mrs. Henry Esson Young, first president of the local club; Dr. Olga Jardine, CFUW first vice-president; Mrs. Butterfield, Misses Evelyn Macqueen, Miss Muriel Laing and Mrs. G. S. Grummy, Vancouver.

President's report, given by Mrs. Williams, showed a membership of seven honor, 91 active and five associate members. An interesting program throughout the year had included speakers and discussions on widely varied subjects. Six study groups were active within the club, Mrs. Williams said, including international, music, architecture and interior decorating, recent graduates and civic affairs.

Scholarship of $150 was given last autumn and recently a past president of the group had given $100 to be presented to a deserving woman student.

"We need larger membership," Mrs. Williams said in conclusion, "and we should have larger membership for the work we wish to do."

Dr. Law, on official tour of clubs in the three western provinces, gave a forceful and dynamic talk on the structure of the national federation, its aims and its objectives. She spoke of the growth of the organization, and of the four scholarships given each year by national federation, one of which is named for the late Mrs. F. McWilliams, founder of national federation.

"We hope [illegible] nial meeting in Edmonton in 1955 to have a fifth scholarship named for another outstanding women in federation," Dr. Law said.

Main interests of national federation at present were to establish a permanent headquarters and to see the CFUW take "it's rightful place in giving leadership in this wonderful place we call Canada," the speaker pointed out.

"We cannot do this without the help of every club," she continued.

Dr. Law urged a more active participation in international affairs.

"Your federation has an honored place among non-government organizations in UN," she pointed out.

AS WE LIVE

Teenager, Unready, Insists on Marriage

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When a young girl wants to marry a boy who is in no way ready for marriage, what can her parents do? A worried mother writes:

Hurlock

(Q)—"My 17-year-old daughter will graduate from high school this June. She says she is in love with an 18-year-old boy and wants to marry him in June. We advise against it. We wish her to find something to do for one year—college or a job. He has nothing to offer her in the way of security, family, or even high school education. Can she marry without our consent?"

(A)—Different states have different laws regarding the age at which a person may marry without parental consent. Your pastor can tell you what the requirements are in your state.

Even if she is able to marry legally now without your consent, try to stop her any way you can. One of the most effective approaches to a problem like yours is to call a conference of the two families. Present the problem to the boy's parents in his presence and let them give you their opinions.

The chances are that they are just as much opposed to this marriage as you are but that they don't know how to stop it. When the young people see that both families are against marriage now, it should have a sobering effect on them.

While the two families are together, don't neglect to discuss the financial side of the marriage. See what they plan to do to help the young people and tell them what, if anything, you plan to do. When your daughter sees that she cannot hope for much in the way of help, she may think twice about getting married so soon.

If you have a problem about family or friend, ask Dr. Hurlock to help you. Write in care of this newspaper.

A Gift — Illustrated books about the Coronation have been sent to the adopted school at Ruby Creek, it was reported at meeting of Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie Chapter, IODE. It was also reported the chapter had received a donation of $20 for welfare work. Preliminary plans were made for a tea to be held late in June in the Douglas Room, Hudson's Bay Company.

A Coronation tea and sale of home cooking is being held by Oversaes Nursing Sisters' Branch, Canadian Legion, BESL, Saturday, in St. John's Parish Hall, Quadra Street, from 2.30 to 4.30. Mesdames W. J. Mosedale, A. Perron, J. C. Hibbard and R. Thomson will act as patronesses.

Mrs. R. Hogarth, president, will receive guests and Mesdames D. Smyth, D. Smart and N. Pollard are in charge of tea arrangements, assisted by Mrs. C. H. Rennie, flowers and decorations; Mrs. W. Davenport, tickets, and Mrs. T. H. Smith, publicity.

Future Home in Ontario

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. M. English

Pastel gowns of four attendants and the handsome full-dress Royal Canadian Mounted Police uniform, worn by her father as he gave her in marriage, made a richly colorful setting for Joan Elizabeth, daughter of Supt. J. M. Bella and Mrs. Bella, 1940 Forrester Street, when she exchanged marriage vows with Allen John Milburn English in Oak Bay United Church on Saturday evening. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. K. English, Arnold Avenue, is graduating with a civil engineering degree from University of British Columbia today.

Lilacs, tulips and fern had been arranged in the church and the ceremony was performed by Rev. G. Soutar.

The bride was a charming picture in a gown of white nylon net, the bodice and skirt appliqued with French lace and embroidered with seed pearls. Her headdress was a coronet of pearls and brilliants, from which a veil filmed, fingertip length. She carried Johanna Hill roses and lily of the valley.

IN PASTEL TONES

Maid of honor Miss Bette Rusconi, Vancouver, wore a gown of orchid nylon net and a floral headdress and carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations, white miniature gladioli and lily of the valley. Two sisters of the bride, Misses Beverley Anne and Joyce Louise Bella, were bridesmaids, in similarly styled gowns of baby blue nylon net and shell pink, respectively, and carrying bouquets of carnations, gladioli and lily of the valley. Little Leslie Langdale, cousin of the groom, was flower girl, wearing pale yellow nylon net with matching bonnet and carrying a basket of flowers. Les English was his brother's best man and ushers were F. French and H. Gardner.

At a reception in Oak Bay Beach Hotel, the young couple were assisted in receiving guests by Mrs. Bella in an ice blue nylon and lace gown with shell pink hat and corsage of pink roses, and Mrs. English, wearing a lace and net dress in spice brown with matching hat and corsage of yellow roses.

Lilac, pink tulips and rhododendrum blooms were massed in the lounge and a three-tiered cake centred the bride's table. Toast to the bride was proposed by A. Rusconi, Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. English left for a honeymoon in Seattle and Vancouver where they will attend UBC convocation exercises. Later they will proceed by plane to Kitchener, Ont., which is to be their future home.

Mrs. English traveled in a navy blue dressmaker suit, dusty pink shortie coat and navy accessories. Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Culver, grandparents of the bride from Simcoe, Ont.; J. M. English, grandfather of the groom, Vancouver; Mrs. S. O. Langdale, grandmother of the groom, and Miss Marlene Peters, Vancouver, were among guests at the wedding.

Comitas Tea Realizes $110

Douglas Room of the Hudson's Bay Company, gay with flowers and multi-colored balloons, was setting in which the president, Mrs. D. Taylor, and members of Comitas Club welcomed many guests to their annual tea. Net proceeds of $110 will be used for local charities.

Miss Ella Creighton, vice-president, and Mrs. L. Wallace poured tea from a table centred with pink rose buds and bridal wreath. A bright floral arrangement centred each of the individual tea tables. There was a program of piano selections by Mrs. J. Patterson, a member of the club, and dances by Janette Watson, Donna Hawkins, Bonnie Bescott and Maxine Hill, young pupils of Miss Velda Wille school of dancing.

Miss Susan Weston drew door prizes.

During the afternoon the Coronation balloons were distributed to the little dancers and children who had accompanied their parents to the tea.

Committee in charge were Mesdames G. Ferguson, R. H. Heywood, W. Hughes and Miss Verna Beek.

Saanich Couple Exchange Vows At Centennial

Centennial United Church was scene of an attractive wedding Saturday night, when Rev. H. G. Armitage united in marriage, Frances Doreen Brinkworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brinkworth, and Richard John Spooner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spooner, Central Saanich. Spring flowers decorated the church and during the ceremony a solo was given by the father of the groom.

Wearing a ballerina length dress of white lace over pale blue satin, with matching hat and chapel veil, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She carried a Bible showered with a pink rose, stephanotis and trailing ribbons.

Two sisters of the bride attended her as maid of honor and bridesmatron. Miss L. Brinkworth and Mrs. R. Geddes were gowned alike in peach taffeta, styled in ballerina length. They carried spring bouquets of Pinnochio roses, violets and ivy. The two flower girls were Sandra Geddes, niece of the bride and Kathy Spooner, niece of the groom, who also wore peach taffeta and carried similar flowers. Robert Spooner, brother of the groom was best man, and ushers were T. Balshaw and L. Patterson.

A reception was held at Olde England Inn, where E. Brinkworth proposed a toast to the bride.

Leaving for a honeymoon in San Francisco, Mrs. Spooner donned a navy bengaline coatdress, pink straw hat, navy and pink accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses and stephanotis.

Upon return the couple will make their home at Cordova Bay.

Bishop's Messengers Mark Quarter Century of Work in Canadian Field

This is the silver jubilee year of the Bishop's Messengers, Miss Muriel Hooper, head of St. Faith's Mission in the Brandon diocese, told members of the board of the Anglican Diocesan Women's Auxiliary, at meeting in Chemainus recently.

The service was established 25 years ago by Miss Fowler, who came to this country from England, the speaker said, and then outlined some of the work carried on in Manitoba and Saskatchewan by the Messengers in the scattered areas where there are few clergymen, and in newly opened sections of the country where help is given new settlers in building a church life.

In the past much support for messenger work came from England, Miss Hooper said, but now it is hoped that the project will be completely supported in Canada and that more young Canadian women will become messengers.

Mrs. R. O. Taylor presided at the meeting held in St. Michael's and All Angels parish hall. There were more than 150 present, many driving to Chemainus from Victoria.

Opening prayers were taken by Mrs. F. R. Sadd; scripture reading, Mrs. W. J. Porter; and greetings presented by Mrs. R. Clegg, president, Westholme and Crofton branch.

Treasurer's report, given by Mrs. F. A. Goodwin, showed receipts of $597.31; social service secretary, Mrs. R. H. Flint, told of work among new Canadians to help them fit in to the Canadian way of life; Mrs. A. F. C. Watts, prayer partner secretary, said seven new prayer partners had been assigned to branches.

Dorcas secretary, Mrs. E. P. Harding, congratulated the cutting centre at Duncan for work accomplished, stated supplies for the Alert Bay School were being received, praised work of church furnishing committee under Mrs. G. S. Niven, chairman, and said that hospital supplies were being shipped to the Columbia Coast Mission.

From extra cent fund a sum of $35 was voted toward a carpet for the sanctuary of All Saints, Alberni.

Other reports were heard from Mrs. C. Millard, Living Message; Mrs. E. Sigston, educational, and Mrs. Sadd on visits to branches in the Cowichan Deanery. Rev. A. G. Howes addressed the gathering and conducted noon prayers. During the tea hour members of St. Matthias' branch presented a gaily decorated cake and a corsage to Mrs. F. J. Brimer on the occasion of her birthday.

12 Named for 3 Urban Victoria Legislative Seats

The Times, in the public interest, completes herewith its "thumbnail" sketches of candidates for urban Victoria ridings in the June 9 provincial election.

There are 12 candidates for the single-seat ridings of Esquimalt, Saanich and Oak Bay:

Esquimalt CCF candidate Frank Mitchell was first elected in a by-election in 1951 which heralded the swing against the Coal the Coalition government and its component parts.

He was 26 and the youngest MLA ever elected in B.C.

Mr. Mitchell was re-elected last June.

The candidate is a veteran of the merchant navy and the army, and has been active in the Esquimalt Boxing Association. He was born and educated in Esquimalt.

Mr. Mitchell is a plasterer by trade.

He has been a CCF-er for 11 years. He is married.

Geoffrey Edgelow, Esquimalt candidate, is making his second try for election to the Legislature.

G. Edgelow

He was unsuccessful last June

Mr. Edgelow, a publisher, is a veteran of the Second World War. He is 42.

The candidate was born in Edmonton, and has lived in B.C. for 26 years.

He is a former director of the Laurier Club, active in the chamber of commerce, and a member and official of many other community organizations.

Dr. Norman Goodwin, Esquimalt PC candidate, like a lot of other Tory candidates in Greater Victoria is jumping into politics for the first time.

Goodwin

He practises as a family doctor at Sooke and as a medical-legal expert in Victoria.

Thirty years of age, he is married and has one daughter. Dr. Goodwin was born in Point Grey.

Esquimalt Socred candidate Herbert Bruch, who lives in Colwood, had to give up his government job to contest the election.

H. Bruch

He is 33, married, and has a family. He is a native of Killaley, Sask.

Mr. Bruch is a former director of the Kelowna and district Poultry Producers' Association, former financial secretary of the Kelowna Local of the IWA. He was one of the originators of the IWA District Safety Council and an executive member.

He joined the B.C. Social Credit League three years ago, and was on the original Victoria Group No. 1 executive. He has been on the executive of the Esquimalt association since its inception.

Saanich Liberal candidate Arthur Ash represented that riding in the Legislature from 1948 to 1952.

Ash

He was elected first in a by-election. He was chairman of the labor inquiry board which recommended changes in the ICA Act.

Mr. Ash was elected to the Ottawa City Council at the age of 28, the youngest ever elected at that time. He was born in Brandon, Manitoba in 1906.

The candidate is an overseas veteran of the Second World War. After the war he organized Ontario and B.C. clothing drives.

He is married and has two children.

Frank Snowsell, Saanich CCF candidate, has been a Saanich school teacher since 1949.

City Sued for Damages After Arena Fall

A Sooke resident's claim against the City of Victoria and Civic Arena Commission, arising out of a fall on arena ice, came before Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in Supreme Court Tuesday.

Mrs. Marian Edith Ashbury, of Otter Point, is seeking $42 specific damages and unspecified general damages because, she says, the arena people were negligent in the manner in which they set out seats for an "Ice Cycles" performance given here Jan. 19, 1952.

Mrs. Ashbury testified that in order to get to her seat it was necessary for her to step onto the ice. Only at the time, she said, she was not aware it was ice.

The frozen surface had been painted a "mottled blue," the plaintiff claimed. She said it looked to her like linoleum and that she only realized it was ice when she fell.

Mrs. Ashbury hurt her head, her left hand and right shoulder in the fall and also broke her glasses.

T. P. O'Grady, counsel for the plaintiff, in opening his case alleged Mrs. Ashbury had suffered extreme discomfort because of her injuries, and had sustained a partial disability which was continuing.

George F. Gregory is acting on behalf of the city and arena commission.

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford
Former Governess to Her Majesty

DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE

"The intimate biography of Queen Elizabeth, written by her good friend and former governess Marion Crawford, appears exclusively in the Victoria Daily Times in 28 chapters. Out of her 17 years of close association with the royal family 'Crawfie' has previously published 'The Little Princess' and 'Mother and Queen: The Story of Queen Mary.'"

XIV

In my time at the Palace, Princess Elizabeth's secretary was Mr. John Colville, known to everyone as Jock. He is a brilliant young man who was on Winston Churchill's staff during the early part of the war, before he insisted on joining the RAF.

Each day Jock would drive to the Palace from his mother's charming little house in Mulberry Walk, Chelsea, and go through the Princess' correspondence.

He had an office just along the passage from the Princess' rooms, to which he would be summoned when she was ready to read her letters.

It is a popular misconception that Royalty are surrounded by advisers—men appointed with the sole object of guiding them through all the moves of their lives.

This is not so. The Royal Family, at least, have very firm ideas of their own about what they are going to do. But naturally they do depend on their secretaries to advise them about things outside their experience.

In this way Princess Elizabeth will go through the many, many requests she gets—to open this bazaar, or name that ship—and pick the ones she thinks most worthy out of a thousand-and-one requests.

It is her secretary's job to make sure that she does not pick the one which for some reason might start one of those wrangles which occur when people of prejudice feel they have been slighted.

Religious Groups a Touchy Question

For example, Royalty have to be careful what connection they have with religious organizations outside the Church of England of which the King is officitlly the temporal head.

It is here that the secretary's knowledge is so valuable. He can say, "Ma'am, I think it would be better to refuse that offer. If you accept, there might be some hard feelings among so and so . . ."

In this respect only can the secretary be called an adviser.

I remember feeling very sorry for both Jock and "Boy" Browning when they were publicly taken to task by a certain newspaper for "allowing" Princess Elizabeth to make too many engagements so soon after the birth of Princess Anne.

I sympathize with the secretary and the comptroller because Queen Elizabeth is a reasonable person in all save one direction; she will not listen to pleas to spare herself.

I remember once when Princess Elizabeth was still in her teens she woke one day feeling very ill indeed. But it was all I could do to persuade her to stay in bed.

"I must not take the easy way out, Crawfie," she kept insisting, and this while she had a temperature which would have put most people out of action for two or three days.

This is a fair example of what her secretary and comptroller have to deal with. Jock came to me one day to complain: "Crawfie, I wish you'd speak to the Princess. She will take on such an enormous program. She won't listen to me when I tell her she is working too hard. She just says, 'Jock, I can't disappoint all those people.'"

I told him there was little I could do. I always found Princess Elizabeth most amenable if I were appealing to her on behalf of someone else. But if I approached her about herself, she would brush my protests aside.

"I've just got to do it, Crawfie," she would say. "After all, it's my job."

"Crawfie," Princess Elizabeth said to me just before she left to inspect the Grenadier Guards whose commander in chief she had just become at the age of 16. "I've got such a fluttering feeling inside."

But she never let her "nerves" affect her performance.

Unique Traveling Art Conference Concluded Here

Selection of exhibitions for 1953-54 and other business relating to small galleries in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, were subjects of discussion at a unique traveling conference of the Western Canada Art Circuit, which concluded in Victoria Tuesday.

The conference, which began at UBC and continued at Vancouver Art Gallery and on board the CPR boat, wound up with the annual meeting at the Victoria Arts Centre.

Out of this meeting has come a trial agreement with the National Gallery in Ottawa to provide small galleries, such as in Victoria, with certain Class A shows which so far have not been available.

The following resolution was passed and was contained in a telegram sent to Prime Minister St. Laurent:

"Western Canada Art Circuit, representing 13 art galleries and established art organizations in western Canada, urges immediate establishment of the Canada arts council as recommended by the Royal Commission on Arts, Letters, and Sciences in 1951."

An attempt is being made to secure official support for a plan to facilitate the Canadian-United States border crossing of works of art.

Seventeen towns and cities in Alberta and B.C. as far north as Prince Rupert have asked for, and been provided with, shows during the past year.

All officers were re-elected. They are A. F. Key, Calgary, managing director; Prof. William A. McCloy, University of Manitoba, and Colin Graham, Victoria Arts Centre curator, directors and exhibition selection committee; Douglas Morton, curator of Calgary Allied Arts Centre, director in charge of publicity.

UBC HONORS OLD GRAD

Faith in Democracy Asked At Annual Congregation

A University of B.C. graduate of 1921 returned to his campus today to make a plea for strengthened faith in democracy, and to accept an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

"I believe that the more dangerous threat from Communism is not the danger of a war of aggression by the Communist powers but, the danger that, inspired by fear, we will repudiate our own faith in democracy; that we will lose our faith in our fellow man," Dr. Alfred Rive said in the annual congregation address this afternoon.

"To the man who has lost that faith, any critic of the society in which he lives, who points out defects or weaknesses and wants them remedied, is giving comfort to the enemy," Dr. Rive said.

FEAR BIG DANGER

"Inspired by fear, he seeks to curb the freedom of thought and expression—to put bonds on democracy and so destroy what he wants to save," the speaker explained.

He said Communism succeeded in Russia because there was so much to destroy and so little on which to build a new society, and so much long standing hate engendered by ancient wrongs that the will to conserve what good might be there scarcely existed.

"That is not so in Canada and other countries where there has been a steady broadening of democracy," Dr. Rive said.

In the great number of countries which are neither democratic nor Communist, the struggle for existence gives little time for the consideration of the claims of conflicting ideologies, he said. Befriending them will win their co-operation and understanding, he suggested, while failing them will hand them over to Communism and the exploitation of envy and hatred.

He urged that the tradition of a critical attitude and free discussion be kept alive at UBC throughout under-graduate courses, and among graduate students, research workers and the faculty.

Dr. Rive, now serving his second term as high commissioner to New Zealand, won his BA degree after service in the First World War and joined the department of external affairs in 1930.

From 1935 to 1940 he was on the staff of Canada's permanent delegation to the League of Nations, served with the department in Canada during the Second World War and in 1945 was appointed official secretary to the high commissioner for Canada in the United Kingdom.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

By EDWIN JORDAN, MD

Proteins, Carbohydrates Can Be Eaten Together

Many people follow food fads which have little relation to scientific knowledge of nutrition.

Q.—I have recently read a book calling attention to the dangers of mixing proteins and carbohydrates in the diet. It says that mixing such foods in the same meal is very hard on the digestive system. What do you think of this? Mrs. H. W.

A.—If this was as harmful as some claim, most of us would be dead long since. I show my own disbelief of this at almost every meal.

★ ★ ★

Q.—I am in my early 40's, but every night when I get in bed my arms and legs start itching terribly and I can't sleep. What can I do for this? M. S. B.

A.—This is a rather common and certainly most distressing complaint. It is a difficult thing to overcome. Possibly a skin oil would be helpful, but most people with this complaint have to experiment with a number of things and even then find relief hard to come by.

Q.—I am nearing 77, am active, with a good position, and in excellent condition. During the past few weeks I have suffered with severe cramps in my legs which recur several times during my sleep. Could this be related to hardening of the arteries? F. T.

A.—Considering the circumstances mentioned, the most likely explanation is some hardening of the arteries in the legs. Perhaps not a great deal can be done for this, but it would be interesting to know whether getting up and walking around when the cramps appear improves or worsens the situation. If they are severe enough to keep you awake—and perhaps in any event—it would be well to be checked over.

★ ★ ★

Q.—When my husband goes into any cold place his fingers turn white and feel like ice. Please tell me what is causing this condition. Mrs. D. W.

A.—Your husband evidently gets a constriction or tightening of the blood vessels which supply his hands whenever he is exposed to cold. This happens to everyone to some degree, but in his case it is much more than average.

Since, in all probability, nothing much can be done to remedy the situation, the best step would seem to be avoidance of exposure of the hands to cold when possible and protecting them carefully by mittens, gloves or other means when such exposure cannot be avoided. If he smokes, he should stop.

Mayor Takes Cadet Salute As Young Seamen Reviewed

One hundred Victoria Junior Sea Cadets with "squared-off" caps and arms swinging shoulder high marched proudly past a reviewing stand at Rainbow Barracks Sunday.

Taking the salute was Mayor Claude Harrison.

In attendance were 200 parents of the corps. They followed every step of the rigorous annual inspection which preceded the march past. They watched the boys demonstrate parade drills and show proficiency at boat work and in other cadet activities.

The corps, which is under command of Lieut. Gerald Bishop, then rested while awards were made to the year's most efficient cadets.

A barometer was presented to Cadet E. Ferguson, named best all-round cadet. A watch went to Cadet G. Roberts as runner-up for the title. A plaque and a medal were awarded Cadet D. Hopwood for general afficiency.

Cadet G. Dillon was given an attendance award, and two marksmen, K. Cooper and Petty Officer J. Purden won similar honors.

The next Navy League youth activity will be an annual carnival at division headquarters, June 13. Proceeds will go to cadet activities.

"JACK McCALL, DESPERADO" (Plaza) — From purely academic angles, the double bill at the Plaza was intensely interesting for me this week.

Just a year ago I stood around a Columbia Studios' lot watching George Montgomery and Angela Stevens work before the technicolored cameras on this tale of a little known (to me, anyway) outlaw, Jack McCall, who used to play around with some of the old west's naughtiest boys such as Wild Bill Hickock.

There were takes and retakes. The sound wasn't right, the emoting was keyed incorrectly, there were fluffs and miscues, and the lighting was either too dark or too bright. After the umpteenth retake (of a courtroom scene) director Dave Salkow decided it was exactly perfect. Personally I couldn't see why the first take wasn't as good as the fifty-first—or was it the one hundred and fifty-first? Seemed like a whale of a lot of lost time, not to mention money.

Frankly, I thought the whole thing looked grim anyway.

Seeing the picture in its entirety yesterday I still thought it looked grim. George Montgomery is a nice guy off stage. Affable and easy-going. But he played Jack McCall as though he were the girl next door. And as for Angela Stevens, throughout the entire picture she looked as unnecessary as a second pair of chaps.

Just a year ago George and Angela and Director Salkow were in high good cheer about this western. I don't think anyone believed it would be an epic. But they did think it would be a tolerably good picture.

Enough said.

★ ★ ★

The second picture to make one wonder was the second half of the Plaza's bill, "Ladies of the Chorus." In this one you could look at Marilyn Munroe as she used to look and wonder how they got her to look the way she does today.

What's more, you wonder why they bothered to build her up at all.

Playing second female lead to Adele Jergens, la Munroe looked most unbeautiful at times. Her jawbone seemed most prominent, certainly more prominent than it does today. Or is it that today we are paying more attention to other prominent features of the actress? Maybe so.

But watching her, I could not help but wonder how this girl zooms up when so many better looking and more talented little girls have to go on washing dishes waiting for their good fortunes to catch up to them.

And they've got nerve enough to compare her to the late Jean Harlow.

What a laugh.

Saanich Council Called 'Undemocratic'

A Saanich taxpayer Tuesday accused Saanich Council of being "most undemocratic for opposing the wishes of the majority of ratepayers with regard to a rezoning application.

The application for the rezoning of property at the corner of Haliburton and Wesley Roads to allow the erection of a small country store, was turned down by the council by a vote of four to two.

Mrs. C. S. Hyland who, with her husband, made the rezoning application, said after the vote had been taken that they accepted the decision of the council.

"But we would like to say this," she said. "We think the council most undemocratic to have refused the application when 80 per cent of the residents in the area are in favor of the store."

Councillors Leslie Passmore and E. P. Cmmins were the ony two on the council in favor of the zoning.

The rezoning application was the subject of much controversy and had the support of the majority of ratepayers in the district a petition to the council revealed.

B & K Chain to Open First Of 5 Stores Here Thursday

Official opening tomorrow of B & K Economy Stores' new unit at Hillside and Fifth is the first step in the company's $400,000 expansion program in Greater Victoria area and at Duncan.

It brings the service of B & K, oldest food chain in British Columbia, to Vancouver Island for the first time.

Four other stores, similar to the ultra-modern, stucco and frame Hillside and Fifth unit, will be opened shortly at Cook and Oliphant, Oak Bay and Hampshire, Burnside and Albion, in Victoria, and on Ingraham Street in Duncan.

"We plan to have the entire development complete and all the other stores open in less than six months," says James Borthwick, B & K general manager.

"Wherever possible, local labor and suppliers are being used. We want these stores to both assist and participate in area development.

"The development program is a direct result of the rapid and continuing growth and marketing importance of the area," he stressed.

"At the same time, other areas on the Island and elsewhere in B.C. are being surveyed for B & K expansion in the immediate future."

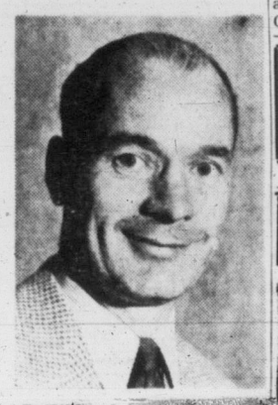
The Hillside and Fifth store is designed, equipped, stocked and staffed to provide the district with all up-to-the-minute developments in the one-stop-to-shop trend, Mr. Borthwick says.

It encompasses approximately 6,000 square feet of floor space and has adjoining free parking space. Carrier service is provided direct to customers' cars.

Broad window areas and bright, fresh colors give the store a pleasant, well-lighted interior. For the ultimate in easy shopping, buying sequence layout follows a natural meal plan.

A unique feature is a new refrigeration system in the fresh fruit and vegetable section, which constantly sprays the produce with chilled water at regulated temperature.

Latest-type checkout counters minimize waiting time through "motorized" features such as automatic turnstiles and high-speed cash registers.



Retail food business veteran Don Lovely from Sapperton, B.C., will be manager of Victoria's new B & K Economy Store to be opened Thursday at Hillside and Fifth.

B & K Economy Stores Ltd. was established in 1914 with the opening of a small store in Vancouver's Fraser district.

Since that time the firm has kept adding outlets, until now with the Hillside opening it has store No. 33.

In 1952 nine stores were opened.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

When the Canadian-American Tournament starts tomorrow in Rochester, N.Y., a host of experts from both countries will be on hand.

Today's hand shows "Shorty" Sheardown, one of Canada's finest bridge players, at his very best in a recent Canadian-American Tournament. The East-West bidding is almost incredible, it must be admitted, but Sheardown certainly took full advantage of the opportunity given to him.

West opened the seven of clubs, and dummy won with the ace. Sheardown, playing the South hand, suspected that East might hold all five of the missing trumps, but decided to find out by leading the queen of hearts from dummy. This held the trick, and declarer felt a bit relieved to discover that West followed suit.

South continued by leading a low trump from dummy, finessing the jack from his hand. West discarded a spade, and it was now clear (as declarer had suspected) that East was sure to get a trump trick.

The contract was not in the slightest danger, so Sheardown looked for a way to win an overtrick or two. After some thought, he rejected the idea of discarding all of his spades on dummy's high clubs. Instead, he led his low spade from his hand towards dummy's jack.

West didn't suspect that South was leading away from both the king and queen of spades. Hence West played low, exactly as Sheardown had expected, and dummy's jack won the trick. Having stolen one spade trick, declarer could afford to discard the rest of his spades on high clubs, and then he continued with dummy's last club in order to discard a diamond.

Declarer continued by ruffing one of dummy's low spades, led a diamond from his hand in order to finesse dummy's jack, and then laid down dummy's ace of diamonds.

East ruffed, as expected, but now had only the king of trump and two clubs left in his hand. If he led the trump, South could win with the ace, cash the king of diamonds, and ruff his last diamond in dummy.

If East returned a club, South could discard a diamond and let dummy ruff at once; and dummy could return a trump to South's ace, after which South would take the last trick with the king of diamonds. In either case South was sure of two overtricks and a top score.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

Radio times and programs are furnished by stations and networks and are subject to last minute changes. The Times assumes no responsibility for inaccurate listings.

BY RAY SIDAWAY

Cathy and Elliott Lewis, radio's distinguished husband and wife team, will portray Ellen Randall Dudley, an accused murderer, and Dale Christian, the prosecuting attorney, in a story entitled "Statement of Fact," written by E. Jack Neuman, for "Cathy and Elliott Lewis Onstage," which will be heard tonight on KIRO at 7.

Dock bosses under the secret protection of an influential ship owner intimidate longshoremen in a series of strong-arm attacks which federal agents bring to an end, in "Self Defense," to be heard on "FBI in Peace and War" on KIRO tonight at 9.

Harold Huber, linguist-actor with more than a hundred screen roles to his credit, and remembered as the fictional master detective, Hercule Poirot, plays the double-dealing ship owner.

Leroy decides to use his Uncle Gildersleeve as the subject of his term paper for his English class, on tonight's edition of "The Great Gildersleeve," heard on KOMO at 9.30.

Gildy is very pleased with the idea and feels he must be on his best behaviour, but as is usual with the bombastic water commissioner, everything he does turns out wrong.

"The Bob Hope Show," with special guest, Marilyn Maxwell, will visit the army engineers at Fort Belvoir, Va., to broadcast the weekly nighttime show tonight on KOMO at 8.

Except for Hope and Miss Maxwell, the entire cast will consist of army personnel. With tongues in cheek, Bob and Marilyn turn to Shakespearean drama and enact the immortal bard's "Caesar and Cleopatra."

TONIGHT'S HIGHLIGHTS: Music—Jean de Rimanoczy directs the Vancouver String Orchestra in a program of works by Bartok, Divertimento and Rumanian dances on CBU at 7.30. . . . Talks—Professor H. M. McLuhan speaks on "The Lively Arts" on CBU at 10.15.

AN AGE OF GREATNESS

No. 116—No Survivors

The Spaniards were hauling siege guns up to Crozon across the bay from Brest. The danger was acute for if they could secure Brest England would never be safe. Elizabeth sent eight warships and 4,000 men to the danger spot under Norreys and Frobisher. Attack by land and sea began and for seven weeks 350 besieged Spaniards held out at Crozon in a hopeless and bitter struggle. Finally it fell and not a single Spaniard survived. England's only serious loss was the death of Frobisher. The Spaniards had been finally beaten in their attempt to secure a Channel base against England, but of the 20,000 Englishmen who had gone overseas in the protracted struggle only about 10,000 returned. At home the pinch was being felt. War was expensive. In four years taxes had trebled. The nobility assessed their own incomes, paying what was really an unenforced contribution. Subsidymen, leading householders and farmers in a parish, were assessed on their property, land and income by commissioners, who were local gentry. They bore the real burden, and paid the subsidy book assessment.

Censorship Hits Theatre Take

The version of "Tobacco Road" playing at the York Theatre this week is "still 99 per cent of what it was when it ran in Vancouver," A. Bushby, of the York, said today.

Mr. Bushby complained that reports concerning "toning down" of the play on police orders had adversely affected box office business. He claimed that changes required by police were minor and there was little difference between the show being given here and that which played in Vancouver.

Mr. Bushby said that while attendance had been good last Thursday, when the play opened, box office business has been tapering off since then. Business Saturday and Monday was disappointing, he acknowledged.

Hotel Damaged

Washroom fixtures were torn from the wall, a mirror smashed and other wilful damage done when three young men—described as "hoodlums"—invaded Dominion Hotel Saturday night.

Police report one of the invaders held the desk clerk, while the others did the damage in the washroom. The clerk was unable to give a description of the trio.

Plan Would Beat Double Time

Commissionaires will be hired at straight time rather than parks employees at doubletime for overtime "attendants'" jobs at Beacon Hill Park, if City Council arrproves a parks committee recommendation Tuesday.

Ald. Waldo Skillings, parks chairman, Ald. Brent Murdoch and Ald. Margaret Christie were all opposed to paying doubletime on nights and Sundays when events are held in the park. There must be attendants.

City Solicitor A. J. Patton reported by letter that under the employees' working agreement such action could result in institution of grievance procedures by the union.

The Civic Employees' Protective Association have already voiced their opposition to hiring of commissionaires, it was reported.

"I'm prepared to let them take the matter to the Labor Relations Board," said Ald. Skillings. "I think the union in this case is being unfair. We'll hire the corps of commissionaires and the employees can do as they see fit."

Ald. Murdoch said he does not favor "undercutting" the union but does approve hiring commissionaires at the union straight time rate. The straight rate is $1.35 an hour and double time $2.70, he said.

Ald. Skillings said costs could be cut from $496 to $248 by hiring commissionaires.

MICE AND MEN

Scientists To Explore Coast Isle

Four Provincial Museum scientists this summer will risk "neck and limb" to obtain specimens of mice on a windswept, rocky island off the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

The island known as Solander is situated about a mile off Cape Cook, south of Quatsino Sound. Except for one spot, the island is practically inaccessible due to towering cliffs and treacherous currents and tides.

The expedition will be led by Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the museum. Charles Guiguet, biologist; George Hardie, botanist, and F. L. Beebe, artist and naturalist, are expected to go on the trip.

The mice are wanted by the scientists because they may provide a clue to the origin of animals on Vancouver Island and also some valuable information on the theory of evolution of some animal species.

Dr. Carl said the expedition will get under way some time in July.

The expedition is also part of a plan of the Provincial Museum to explore all the islands off the west coast of Vancouver Island. The "maiority" of islands have never been explored from a scientific point of view.

Men Who Keep Army Mobile Given Praise

Praise for the excellent work done by Canadian Army maintenance men in Korea was given today by Capt. A. L. D. Macdonell, who arrived here from Korea Monday to visit his parents at 870 Admirals Road.

"We couldn't ask for better men," said Capt. Macdonell, officer commanding 191 Canadian Infantry Workshop, RCEME, in Korea.

"Our work was maintenance of all electrical and mechanical equipment," he said. "Most of the men trained at RCEME school at Barriefield and in our own workshop.

"The men are in the work because they like it," he said. "Americans doing similiar work thought we had something exceptional.

LIVES SHORTENED

The workshop facilities are good, he said, but Korea's summer dust and rough roads reduce the life of a vehicle to a fraction of its normal span.

"For a certain period of the year the humidity is so high that everything will rust in a few hours unless covered with a film of oil," he said.

Capt. Macdonell was met in Vancouver by his wife, a former nursing sister in the army medical corps. After 60 days' leave here and in the United States they will go to Montreal where Capt. Macdonell will join 202 Base Workshop.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY OF THE GREATEST NAME IN MOTORING

CRESTLINE VICTORIA

The best way to measure Ford's dollar-for-dollar value is to compare it feature-for-feature with other cars that cost as much or more. We think you'll be surprised at what you'll find. For example, you'll discover that Ford's Strato-Star 110-Hp. V-8 engine is the kind of engine you've always associated with the most expensive cars . . . that it delivers the kind of power and smoothness you never hoped to find in a car that's priced as low as Ford. When you try out Ford's relaxing "Wonder Ride" you'll immediately sense that "big car" feeling that's so satisfying to a driver. When you take into account Ford's choice of Fordomatic*, Overdrive* or Synchro-Silent transmission (no other car at any price can offer more)—and realize how many attractive extra features Ford includes (like Full Circle Visibility, Centre-Fill Fueling, Key-Turn Starting and foam rubber seats) . . . well, then you'll understand why more and more motorists are making Ford their new first choice!

UN Plan Follows India's

U.S. May Suggest Neutrality for PWs

TOKYO (UP) — The United Nations in a "final" truce offer to the Communists will agree that anti-Red Chinese prisoners of the UN be sent to a neutral country until their future is decided, a reliable source said today.

But the UN will stand pat on its insistence that the anti-Communist Korean prisoners it holds be kept in Korea, the informant said.

The UN offer will be made when the truce negotiations are resumed at Panmunjom at 11 a.m. Monday (7 p.m. Sunday PDT).

In general, the Allied plan is expected to go along with the Indian plan which the UN assembly approved last December.

But it is understood that the threat of releasing all anti-Red Korean prisoners outright in South Korea may be held over the heads of the Communist negotiators.

GUARANTEES

The UN also will insist on the firmest guarantees against the forcible repatriation of any prisoners, it is understood. In addition, informants said the UN will refuse to let any Soviet satellite troops go to Korea as "neutral" guards of anti-Red prisoners.

Finishing touches are being put on the Allied plan here. Supreme Allied Commander Gen. Mark W. Clark and Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison, senior UN truce negotiator, are in radio teletype consultation with the Pentagon in Washington.

Island Prepares For Shipping Strike

Saturday Midnight Set as Deadline

Victoria, with the rest of Vancouver Island, prepared today for a strike of coastwise seamen which seemed a certainty for 12 midnight Saturday.

In Vancouver, negotiations between operators of three steamship companies and representatives of the Seafarers' International Union (AFL) ground to a standstill.

Little hope was held for settlement before the Saturday deadline, set by the union at a meeting in Vancouver Monday.

The strike would cut off direct sea connection for passengers between Vancouver Island and the B.C. mainland, but would not isolate the island with two other ferry services maintaining their regular runs between Sidney-Anacortes and Victoria-Port Angeles.

DEVELOPMENTS

Strike developments today were:

1. Canadian Pacific Steamships, Canadian National Steamships and Union Steamships adjusted schedules to bring all ships into port before the deadline.

2. CPR ordered immediate embargo of livestock and perishable goods if the shipments are destined for points served by coastal steamships. CNS is expected to follow suit.

3. No further meeting between operators and union was expected.

4. Transportation operators not involved in the strike planned stepped-up schedules to provide a service to the mainland by air, and by sea via U.S. ports.

5. Preparations were made to anchor strike-bound ships in Royal Roads and in English Bay.

6. Victoria wholesale meat houses expressed confidence "the city won't go hungry."

Company-union talks Tuesday, which started after Federal Labor Minister Milton Gregg telegraphed both sides asking them to "get together" were apparently futile. No progress has been made toward agreement in the past 24 hours.

OTHER SCHEDULES

Washington State ferries have announced a stepped-up schedule on the Sidney-Anacortes run if there is a strike. Re-fit work on the ferry Chippewa is being hurried to get it into service earlier than planned. The present ferry, Klickitat, will make two round trips daily, and Chippewa's schedule, to be announced later, will add to this service.

Perishables and emergencies will be given priority on the ferries, according to Capitol Travel Service, city agents.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines officials were drafting increased services, to connect with the ferries at Sidney, and to serve Up-Island points. Greyhound Bus Lines planned connections between Washington State Ferries at Anacortes and transcontinental trains at Seattle, New Westminster and Coquitlam.

Trans-Canada Air Lines traffic officials conferred in Vancouver, sketching possible "emergency airlift" service if needed.

A spokesman for TCA, which operates 14 round trips daily between Victoria and Vancouver (passenger capacity, 392 each way), said it was likely the company's regular services could deal with requirements, but emergency flights would be operated if necessary, within the limits of available aircraft and crew-time.

FOUR TRIPS DAILY

Black Ball Ferry Lines provides connection with the mainland via Port Angeles, operating four round trips daily. The new Black Ball service, Vancouver-Nanaimo, cannot be operated before June 15, as the new ferry for the service is not ready.

Unless the strike spreads to barge operators, wholesalers here do not anticipate a food shortage. Major meat packers import in carload lots via car barge. In 1950, when the seamen were on strike, a considerable amount of food was imported in bond via Port Townsend and Anacortes-Sidney.

SIU members voted for strike action after the companies rejected their demands for a wage increase of $50 a month on a basic rate of about $180. The union rejected a majority report of a conciliation board which called for a $30 a month increase.

CHURCHILL INVITES IKE TO BRITAIN

Would Welcome Immediate Visit

LONDON (UP) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill invited President Eisenhower today to visit Britain during his White House term and said a visit right now would be welcome if the President could get away from Washington.

But Churchill said he does not feel that any present differences between the United States and Britain would justify a procedure "of such magnitude" as a formal invitation.

Such an invitation, he said, would necessarily be made by Queen Elizabeth to the President as a fellow head of state.

Speaking in the House of Commons, Churchill said there were only "reasonable differences of opinion" between the United States and Britain.

If the President does come, he said, he hopes it will be to talk about "the vast vital body of agreement throughout the English-speaking world," and not about minor disagreements, between friends.

WORKING WELL

He said the machinery for consultation between the United States and other United Nations members is working "very well."

Churchill did not carry any further his statement last week urging an early meeting of a few world leaders in an attempt to reduce west-east tensions. But the foreign office denied emphatically a report that Churchill has made any approach to Soviet Russia on such a meeting.

Today's discussion started when a Laborite asked Churchill to invite Mr. Eisenhower here to settle Anglo-American differences before there was any meeting with the Russians.

"Few things would give more pleasure to Her Majesty's government and the British people than that President Eisenhower should visit us in these islands, as he so often did during the war," Churchill said.

Died Today

George MacDonald, 49, well-known city businessman and active welfare worker, died today at St. Joseph's Hospital after having suffered indifferent health for several years. President and managing director of MacDonald's Ltd., he was also active in Chamber of Commerce and war service work. (See story page 15).

British Ready To Meet Any Egypt Trouble

CAIRO (CP) — A high-ranking British officer said today at an army base in the Suez Canal zone that "if trouble is forced upon us we are ready to counter it."

He spoke a few hours after Premier Mohammed Naguib urged Egyptians to prepare for a "life or death" fight to drive British troops fro the canal zone.

"We are prepared to defend ourselves and are fully confident of our capacity to do so," Brig. Robin Goldsmith, chief of staff of British troops in Egypt, said at Fayid, in the canal zone.

Naguib's call for a continuing struggle to regain control of the zone for Egypt was made by radio Tuesday night. But he warned it would be a long, slow fight.

"We shall not rush, nor push the people toward mistakes in order to get hollow applause," he said.

Loses Tax Appeal

OTTAWA (CP)—The income tax appeal board in a judgment made public dismissed the appeal of a former lieutenant-governor of Saskatchewan and ruled the government was right in adding $62,047 to his taxable income for the year 1950. The appellant, now 91, was Henry W. Newlands, a former judge of the Saskatchewan Appeal Court and lieutenant-governor of that province from 1921 to 1931.

Tennis Greats Arrive Here

SEDGMAN

McGREGOR

Victoria is host today to four of the great tennis players of the current era.

Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, the two Australians who turned professional after three years around the top of the amateur heap, reached the city shortly after noon by plane from Seattle, with Jack Kramer of the U.S. and Pancho Segura of Ecuador.

They are scheduled to give a talk to Victoria High students this afternoon prior to their exhibition matches at the Arena tonight. (See sports page.)

PRINCESS LIKES U.S. CROONER

LONDON (Reuters)—Princess Margaret in the wee hours of this morning had American crooner Eddie Fisher sing a special song for her—"Outside Heaven"—then invited him to join her table at a charity ball here.

After Fisher sat with Margaret's party, he danced with some of her close friends, including Lady Jelgun, Lady Blandford and Lady Westmorland.

Nov. 9 Date Of Victoria By-Election

OTTAWA (CP)—A by-election has been called for Monday, Nov. 9 to fill the Commons vacancy of Victoria, B.C., but the action was regarded as doing no more than setting the latest possible date for the holding of a general election.

Lapse of a statutory time limit following the resignation of Fisheries Minister Mayhew to become ambassador to Japan resulted in the calling of the by-election. The deadline for setting a date was Monday, when cabinet passed an order-in-council for the by-election.

However, it was regarded as extremely unlikely that a by-election actually would be held before a general election, and the setting of the Victoria date was no more than a matter of form. The general election is expected in August.

Second Polish Pilot Lands Mig in Denmark

Russian-Built Jet Under Strict Police Guard at Roenne; Flier Asks Asylum

ROENNE, Denmark (AP) — Another Polish pilot crashed through the Iron Curtain today to land a Soviet MiG 15 jet fighter on this Danish island 100 miles west of Copenhagen.

Roenne police, who immediately took the young pilot into custody, said he had asked for political asylum. The plane was surrounded by military guards with orders to keep reporters and press photographers away.

An unconfirmed report said the plane was of a newer type than the one landed on this Baltic island March 25 by Lieut. Franciszek Jarecki, the first Polish Air Force escapee.

Jarecki's plane was later returned to Poland after a thorough examination by western air experts. Jarecki was granted asylum and since has gone to the United States.

Barnholm is only a few minutes flying time from Poland.

The speedy Russian-built fighter was first sighted by observers in the control tower of the airport at Roenne, the island's capital. The pilot apparently was unable to locate the field and headed for a training ground at nearby Almegaard military camp.

The MiG swayed violently after hitting the edges of several ditches and small bushes, then roared over the knotty ground before coming to an abrupt halt in the midst of a group of trees.

One of its wings was hit by a tree branch, but damage was reported only slight.

The young Polish pilot, unhurt, climbed out of the cockpit and greeted the camp commander with a smile.

Police said the pilot told them he broke away from a formation of MiG fighters flying over Polish territory.

Meanwhile, jet fighter experts from the Danish Air Force flew to Roenne to investigate the MiG-15, generally considered a prize catch by western military experts.

About three weeks ago the UN command in the Far East offered $100,000 to the first Communist pilot in Korea who brought his MiG-15 undamaged to the Allied side. No one there has reacted to the offer.

The first MiG-15 was thoroughly studied by Danish and other NATO experts before being handed back to Poland—and only after the Warsaw government had raised a diplomatic outcry against the delay in the delivery.

Bennett Centres Attack on Liberals

By GORDON FORBES
Times Political Reporter

NANAIMO — British Columbia's "collapsed" Liberal party still has its "boys in the back room hungry for patronage and wanting the old party machine running again," Premier W. A. C. Bennett charged here Tuesday night.

"Tax money is not to hand around to friends. It is trust money," the premier said as he lashed out viciously at the party which caused the defeat of his minority government.

He described new Liberal leader Arthur Laing as a "false stucco front sent out by Ottawa to hide the boys in the back room."

"Your Social Credit government has killed patronage in B.C. and it will stay dead," he shouted.

The premier was speaking in support of Nanaimo Social Credit candidate Earle Westwood, a former mayor of this hub city. More than 200 persons crowded into the Plaza auditorium to hear the Socred leader make his first Vancouver Island election speech.

Premier Bennett, concentrating on Mr. Laing, quoted the Liberal leader as saying some years ago the John Hart government was the "second worst" B.C. ever had. The worst was the Tolmie government, the premier recalled Mr. Laing as saying.

"The early Coalition government under John Hart was a great government," countered Premier Bennett. "Who was the greatest opponent of the Hart government? It was Arthur Laing."

He then asked:

"Is it any wonder John Hart isn't attending any Liberal banquets?"

He said the Liberal party has collapsed and "won't rise again for 50 years."

When Social Credit took over the reins of government, the premier said "we found patronage everywhere."

Contractors who wanted to get government business had to be on a "special list," he charged.

"We told the purchasing commission to end all that," he said.

Premier Bennett, wearing a "Social Credit for good government" button in his lapel and waving his index finger at the audience, next concentrated on retired CCF leader Harold Winch and former Liberal House leader E. T. Kenney.

"It's unparallelled in the history of British government that two opposition party leaders would resign after causing the defeat of a government," he said.

He termed Mr. Winch's resignation a "funny story, indeed."

Mr. Winch, he said, claimed he submitted his resignation to the CCF caucus two weeks before he made his retirement announcement "but only that day he had asked the lieutenant-governor for the premiership."

Premier Bennett claimed there is a "great division" in the CCF party, and Mr. Winch could only have hoped to keep control by getting the premiership. He didn't get it, so he resigned, he said.

"Mr. Winch went too far to the right, and parts of his party didn't like it," he added.

New CCF leader Arnold Webster has swung the party back to the far left, he contended, and is talking about taking over industries.

The "unholy alliance" between the Liberals, CCF and PC's, which defeated the Socred government, will be regretted by those parties, the premier continued.

"The night they defeated my government rang the death knell for all these parties," he said.

Opposition party actions during the session in criticizing the Socred policies, but voting for them, "showed clearly they wanted to use the Legislature as a political sounding board," Premier Bennett said. "They wanted to fill the press with their talk."

This, he contended, is an "abuse of the Legislature. The place for such talk is on the hustings," the premier contended.

There was a "great drama" played that night the government was defeated. It was obvious the Liberals and CCF had agreed ahead of time to defeat the Socreds, he said.

Premier Bennett brought the Victoria Times into his discussion of his government's achievements in its eight-month term of office.

He recalled a Times editorial said last August the real test of the Socreds will be if they can reduce the provincial debt and expenditures.

"They're afraid to say it now," he said, "because we've done that." The premier said his government reduced the net debt by $21,000,000 and reduced the expenditures.

By the end of March next the debt will be reduced another $12,000,000, the Premier predicted.

Premier Bennett was abrupt

BENNETT'S BOAST

Victory on First Count, Power for 50 Years

NANAIMO — Nothing is more certain than a Social Credit victory on June 9, according to Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

The premier Tuesday night in a two-hour speech, made the following predictions:

1. The people of B.C. will know within two hours of the time the polls close that Social Credit has been re-elected.

2. Social Credit will elect more candidates than all other parties put together.

3. Social Credit will stay in power in B.C. for 50 years.

4. Social Credit will get 60 per cent of the total vote.

5. Social Credit will not win all 48 seats, but will come close to that number.

Premier Bennett also said Social Credit has more members than all other parties combined—40,000 to 50,000.

Two Women Named To Senate

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has filled four of the record 23 vacancies in the Senate, two with women.

Before leaving for the Coronation, Mr. St. Laurent announced that Mrs. Marianna Beauchamp of Montreal and Mrs. Muriel McQueen Fergusson, 54, of Fredericton, both widows, will occupy Quebec and New Brunswick vacancies in the upper chamber.

Premier Walter Jones of Prince Edward Island, 75, and Allan L. Woodrow, 67, Toronto business consultant and retired banker, were the others named to P.E.I. and Ontario vacancies respectively.

The Liberals will hold 75 seats in the 102-member upper chamber at the next Parliament unless the prime minister makes further appointments. The Progressive Conservatives are represented by eight senators.

Pickets Called Off Gorge Rd. Store

Work resumed this afternoon at the Super-Valu store on Gorge Road that had been under picket since Tuesday morning.

The job was picketed when employees of a non-union Cloverdale woodworking firm worked over the holiday week-end to install store fixtures made by the mainland company.

On the advice of the local union, and as a means to end the work stoppage, the firm signed an agreement today with the New Westminster local of the Carpenters' and Joiners' Brotherhood.

692 MiG-15s Downed in Korea

SEOUL (AP)—The United States Air Force today reported 692 Russian-built Mig-15 fighters have been destroyed in the Korean war. All but 17 were credited to Sabre jets. Sabres also were credited with more than 90 per cent of the 125 Migs probably destroyed and 860 damaged. The air force said 55 Sabres had been lost in combat with MiGs.

30,000 Names Off 8 Voters' Lists

VANCOUVER (CP)—Thirty thousand "dead" names have been taken off the voters' lists in eight lower mainland constituencies, Ken Morton, registrar of voters, announced today.

He reported the count after wholesale revision of the lists in Vancouver-Point Grey, Vancouver-Burrard, Vancouver Centre, Vancouver East, Burnaby, New Westminster, Delta and Dewdney.

Winds, Cold Hamper Mt. Everest Climbers

KATMANDU, Nepal (Reuters)—Cruel winds and diving temperatures today blocked any human attempt to reach the 29,002-foot summit of Mt. Everest, now under assault by a British expedition.

The forbidding weather followed a comparatively mild spell in the last few days. Experts here said if the Britons made their first assault on the summit last week-end and failed, they must now have withdrawn to an advanced base to wait for another try.

No word has been received for some time from Col. John Hunt and his party of 13 mountain-climbers whose schedule called for the final assault last week-end.

Weather forecasts said there will be a "continuing deterioration" of conditions in the next 24 hours.

Senate Probers To Query Ike

British-Owned Vessels Carried Red Chinese Troops, Witness Testifies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators called today for a statement from President Eisenhower himself on Allied nations' trade with Red China, after hearing testimony that two British-owned vessels transported Red Chinese troops along the China coast last year.

The testimony came from Robert Kennedy at a public hearing before the Senate investigations sub-committee of which he is an assistant counsel.

Senator Joseph McCarthy, Rep., Wis., the committee chairman, said he would have a letter to Eisenhower drawn up this afternoon.

In the hearing Kennedy testified that:

1. Western allies' trade with Red China has shown "tremendous" increases, and that 100 ships flying the British flag have engaged in the China trade in the first three and a half months of this year.

2. Every country among the U.S. allies has hauled at least one cargo to the Reds, containing items which Washington considers to be "strategic" but which the Allied powers contended were non-strategic.

Kennedy said the British ships he reported had hauled Red troops were owned by companies in Hong Kong.

He said a ship owned by one of these firms, the Wheelock-Marden Co., also had been hired by the U.S. Mutual Security Agency to haul foreign aid goods.

Senator McCarthy said trading by British vessels with Red China "more than offsets any military aid they have given us in Korea."

UN Plan Follows India's

U.S. May Suggest Neutrality for PWs

TOKYO (UP) — The United Nations in a "final" truce offer to the Communists will agree that anti-Red Chinese prisoners of the UN be sent to a neutral country until their future is decided, a reliable source said today.

But the UN will stand pat on its insistence that the anti-Communist Korean prisoners it holds be kept in Korea, the informant said.

The UN offer will be made when the truce negotiations are resumed at Panmunjom at 11 a.m. Monday (7 p.m. Sunday PDT).

In general, the Allied plan is expected to go along with the Indian plan which the UN assembly approved last December.

But it is understood that the threat of releasing all anti-Red Korean prisoners outright in South Korea may be held over the heads of the Communist negotiators.

GUARANTEES

The UN also will insist on the firmest guarantees against the forcible repatriation of any prisoners, it is understood. In addition, informants said the UN will refuse to let any Soviet satellite troops go to Korea as "neutral" guards of anti-Red prisoners.

Finishing touches are being put on the Allied plan here. Supreme Allied Commander Gen. Mark W. Clark and Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison, senior UN truce negotiator, are in radio teletype consultation with the Pentagon in Washington.

Nov. 9 Date Of Victoria By-Election

OTTAWA (CP)—A by-election has been called for Monday, Nov. 9 to fill the Commons vacancy of Victoria, B.C., but the action was regarded as doing no more than setting the latest possible date for the holding of a general election.

Lapse of a statutory time limit following the resignation of Fisheries Minister Mayhew to become ambassador to Japan resulted in the calling of the by-election. The deadline for setting a date was Monday, when cabinet passed an order-in-council for the by-election.

However, it was regarded as extremely unlikely that a by-election actually would be held before a general election, and the setting of the Victoria date was no more than a matter of form. The general election is expected in August.

CHURCHILL INVITES IKE TO BRITAIN

Would Welcome Immediate Visit

LONDON (UP) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill invited President Eisenhower today to visit Britain during his White House term and said a visit right now would be welcome if the President could get away from Washington.

But Churchill said he does not feel that any present differences between the United States and Britain would justify a procedure "of such magnitude" as a formal invitation.

Such an invitation, he said, would necessarily be made by Queen Elizabeth to the President as a fellow head of state.

Speaking in the House of Commons, Churchill said there were only "reasonable differences of opinion" between the United States and Britain.

If the President does come, he said, he hopes it will be to talk about "the vast vital body of agreement throughout the English-speaking world," and not about minor disagreements, between friends.

WORKING WELL

He said the machinery for consultation between the United States and other United Nations members is working "very well."

Churchill did not carry any further his statement last week urging an early meeting of a few world leaders in an attempt to reduce west-east tensions. But the foreign office denied emphatically a report that Churchill has made any approach to Soviet Russia on such a meeting.

The last sailing from Vancouver for Nanaimo will leave at 6 p.m. Saturday. The last departure from Nanaimo for Vancouver will be 7.30 p.m. Saturday.

The last service out of Westview and Blubber Bay for Vancouver will be Friday, but there will be a Saturday service from Vancouver to the Gulf Islands and return.

Service from Vancouver to Ocean Falls, Kitimat and Prince Rupert will terminate after Thursday's departure and the last sailing from Prince Rupjert on Sunday, from Kitimat and Wemano on Monday, and Ocean Falls on Tuesday, May 26.

Victoria, with the rest of Vancouver Island, prepared today for a strike of coastwise seamen which seemed a certainty for 12 midnight Saturday.

In Vancouver, negotiations between operators of three steamship companies and representatives of the Seafarers' International Union (AFL) ground to a standstill.

Little hope was held for settlement before the Saturday deadline, set by the union at a meeting in Vancouver Monday.

The strike would cut off direct sea connection for passengers between Vancouver Island and the B.C. mainland, but would not isolate the island with two other ferry services maintaining their regular runs between Sidney-Anacortes and Victoria-Port Angeles.

Strike developments today were:

1. Canadian Pacific Steamships, Canadian National Steamships and Union Steamships adjusted schedules to bring all ships into port before the deadline.

2. CPR ordered immediate embargo of livestock and perishable goods if the shipments are destined for points served by coastal steamships. CNS is expected to follow suit.

3. No further meeting between operators and union was expected.

4. Transportation operators not involved in the strike planned stepped-up schedules to provide a service to the mainland by air, and by sea via U.S. ports.

5. Preparations were made to anchor strike-bound ships in Royal Roads and in English Bay.

6. Victoria wholesale meat houses expressed confidence "the city won't go hungry."

Company-union talks Tuesday, which started after Federal Labor Minister Milton Gregg telegraphed both sides asking them to "get together" were apparently futile. No progress has been made toward agreement in the past 24 hours.

Washington State ferries have announced a stepped-up schedule on the Sidney-Anacortes run if there is a strike.

Perishables and emergencies will be given priority on the ferries, according to Capitol Travel Service, city agents.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines officials were drafting increased services, to connect with the ferries at Sidney, and to serve Up-Island points. Greyhound Bus Lines planned connections between Washington State Ferries at Anacortes and transcontinental trains at Seattle, New Westminster and Coquitlam.

Trans-Canada Air Lines traffic officials conferred in Vancouver, sketch a possible "emergency airlift" service if needed.

FOUR TRIPS DAILY

Black Ball Ferry Lines provides connection with the mainland via Port Angeles, operating four round trips daily. The new Black Ball service, Vancouver-Nanaimo, cannot be operated before June 15, as the new ferry for the service is not ready.

SIU members voted for strike action after the companies rejected their demands for a wage increase of $50 a month on a basic rate of about $180. The union rejected a majority report of a conciliation board which called for a $30 a month increase.

Tennis Greats Arrive Here

McGREGOR

Victoria is host today to four of the great tennis players of the current era.

Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, the two Australians who turned professional after three years around the top of the amateur heap, reached the city shortly after noon by plane from Seattle, with Jack Kramer of the U.S. and Pancho Segura of Ecuador.

They are scheduled to give a talk to Victoria High students this afternoon prior to their exhibition matches at the Arena tonight. (See sports page.)
